

BOTH SIDES LOOK TO FATHER YORKE

Comment on the Republican and Democratic State Committees--Story on "Gloomy Gus"--Lane Knockers--Mayor Schmitz Called a Traitor Both Ways.

BY THE KNAVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The Cutter Committee is in no end of trouble over the situation in Sacramento. There is no denying that things do not look just right for the Republican ticket in the Capital City, and Cutter doesn't seem to have sense enough to make them any better.

The chairman of the County Committee of Sacramento has been howling for a Pardee meeting. He has told how things are going against him in the fight and how there is a general demand for a big whoop-up over the party leader in order to start the talk the other way.

But Cutter replied that the best he could do would be to give Sacramento a daylight Pardee meeting. Of course a daylight meeting means nothing. The people cannot be gathered. Such a meeting in Sacramento would be sure to be a frost and would still further harm Pardee's candidacy in just the place it already is in its worst condition. So Chairman R. M. Richardson of the Sacramento County Committee roared like distant thunder:

"Here you keep Pardee talking at a lot of cross-roads towns where there are a few hundreds of votes, and neglect a big city like Sacramento, where thousands of votes are to be swung one way or the other," he said hotly. "You send us no money to make the campaign, and then you wonder that things are going against us."

There is some Republican encouragement in Sacramento, however. At last it begins to look as if the Southern Pacific was going to support Pardee. Ben Steinman, who generally is pretty close to railroad secrets, gave out some days ago that the railroad would declare for the Republican candidate. He also said that Father Yorke would come out for Pardee as an offset for Andrew Furuseth's advocacy of the election of Lane.

Well, it begins to look very much as though Steinman knew what he was talking about, so far as the Southern Pacific is concerned. All along the Record-Union, the Sacramento organ of the railroad, has remained silent as to Pardee. In fact, the doctor was not given as much support as the Examiner gives to Lane. From this the impression went abroad that the railroad was against Pardee, and the leaders in the railroad shops came out openly for Lane. This was what started the Democratic sentiment at the capital, and the Republicans have been more and more worried thereat.

But when this morning's issue of the Record-Union arrived in this city, it brought joy to the Republican heart. For, on the editorial page in double-column measure and emphatic type, was an out-and-out endorsement of Pardee, and a call upon all laboring men to support him and endorse President Roosevelt.

The editorial took the settlement of the great coal strike as its text, applauded the stand taken by Roosevelt in bringing about arbitration, and then insisted that if the laboring element now elected a Democratic Governor in California it would be a rebuke to the President, who had shown himself labor's friend. Then came the statement that Pardee represented the party of Roosevelt, and that organized labor should vote for him as an endorsement of the President.

Editorials generally do not amount to much as vote getters, but that editorial has been taken as notice at last that the Southern Pacific will support Pardee and not Lane. It is the first intimation from the railroad of the policy it intends to pursue. To be sure, Mr. Herrin is not due home, after his conference with Mr. Harriman for a day or two yet, but the political managers accept the Record-Union editorial as an announcement of railroad policy, and the notion begins to prevail that when Herrin arrives he will loosen up the railroad sack and make the usual fat contribution to the Republican campaign fund.

And now the wonder grows whether Ben Steinman had some inside information when he said that Father Yorke would come out openly for Pardee. Such a declaration on the part of the about controversialist would just about settle all doubts in favor of Pardee. Father Yorke doesn't like Lane, whom he regards as an out-and-out McNab man, and he is certain that McNab and Phelan are the enemies of organized labor. But Andrew Furuseth did not like Lane, and the other night he startled everybody by his announcement in favor of the Democratic candidate. He hadn't said a word of his intention to make the announcement when he went to the meeting with Casey, Livernash and others of the labor leaders, who do not like Lane. But he burst right out in his speech, and the declaration was about the most important achievement of the Democratic campaign.

All this time Father Yorke has remained silent. His articles in the Leader have left both Lane and Pardee severely alone. And now if the rumor be true that he intends to support Pardee, his declaration to that effect would mean thousands upon thousands of votes for the Republican standard-bearer, for Yorke is really the most influential of all the labor leaders—quite the most influential man in all California, as a fact.

But if that Cutter Committee wants to get labor votes, and especially the votes of railway men for Pardee, he should pull down your Oakland man Roberts. He stirs up unnecessary enemies for Pardee wherever he goes; and putting him on the stump is only another evidence of Cutter's incompetence.

But that Democratic State Central Committee is in no better case than the Cutter organization. A large faction in that committee—in fact, the controlling element of the campaign committee—is not at heart for Lane. Though giving him a surface support, at heart they hope for his defeat. They laugh at Caminetti and tell humorous stories of Barney Murphy's inactivity. And there even are hints that some of the money which should have gone for campaigning has been applied to personal adornment.

Then, too, there is a howl among the men who are on the ticket with Lane that nothing is being done for them, while everything is being centered on Lane's candidacy. Lane has nothing to say for his colleagues. Even for Alex. Rosborough, who has been campaigning with him and giving him the gladdest of glad words wherever he speaks, he has no word of commendation or endorsement. It all is big I and the rest nowhere.

Isidore Dockweiler, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, has been industriously "knocking" Lane right and left in his private talks. Dockweiler takes his candidacy very seriously. In declaration he has copied the sentimental methods of the late Stephen M. White, and he really fancies himself in his oratorical stunts. So the fact that Lane overlooks him in the speech-making and the further fact that the Central Committee, in getting up the party lithograph, has given him no more size or photographic importance than the candidate for Clerk of the Supreme Court, have caused the wrath to come up in his southern neck, and his words about Lane and the committee would burn holes in a carpet.

In this campaign the application of a soubriquet seems likely to defeat a Congressional candidate. All through the Second District, Frank L. Coombs is now known as "Gloomy Gus," and there has been much inquiry as to the man who fixed the title on him. The honor belongs to Dr. Matthews, of the State Board of Health.

During the lively struggle preceding the Republican State Convention, Coombs was in the Gage camp. Coombs had been expected to throw the Napa delegation to the Governor, because it was the Governor's friends who had given him the Congressional nomination two years ago. But Coombs really was for his friend Flint, and at the last moment said he couldn't do anything for Gage in Napa. This made the Gage supporters as mad as so many wet hens. They denounced Coombs as a traitor and an ingrate, and it was then that Dr. Matthews burst out with: "Why, this man Coombs is the 'Gloomy Gus' of politics. After his friends have gone into a scrap with the enemy and been gouged and beaten, he comes around and picks up the political pocket book dropped in the struggle. He never did anything for anybody, but he always expects that something will be done for him."

The allusion to "Gloomy Gus" referred, of course, to the brother of Happy Hoolligan in Oppen's famous cartoons—the chap who always stands back while Happy is getting into trouble over doing a deed of intended kindness, and then, as Happy is dragged off to jail, finds a lunch basket or a pocket book or some spoil of the fray. An Examiner man heard Matthews make use of the expression, and put it into print. It was such a pat designation that it has gone through the length and breadth of Coombs' district, and if he is beaten by Bell, his Democratic opponent, it will be because of that soubriquet, though the angered friends of Gage also will have a hand in that political pie.

Poor Mayor Schmitz seems to have fallen upon evil days. He has gone East to take a hand in the campaign of W. R. Hearst for Congress, and immediately the labor leaders have charged him with being a traitor to the cause, holding that he never should have left San Francisco during the heat of a political struggle in which the labor unions are trying to elect candidates.

But while he was in San Francisco Schmitz was a traitor just the same. The Democrats accused him of secretly favoring the election of Pardee. The friends of Livernash said that because of the subservience of Schmitz to Abe Ruef he was underhandedly working for the election of Kahn. The labor central committee complained that he had not contributed a cent to the labor campaign fund and that none of his City Hall appointees had put up a cent. So he was a traitor for staying here and a traitor for going away, and his days of political supremacy seem numbered in small figures.

UNCONSCIOUS IN PARK IN SAN FRANCISCO

Santa Cruz Man Found Suffering From Poison.

All the Circumstances Point to an Attempt at Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Early this morning a man was found lying in an unconscious condition in Jefferson Square.

At the hospital, it was discovered that he was suffering from chloroform poisoning. At a late hour today the patient had not regained consciousness, so that his identity is a matter of mere supposition.

It is thought by the police that he is Augustus Ehner, of 168 Water street, Santa Cruz, a florist and landscape gardener, as several business cards bearing that name and address were found in his pocket.

All the circumstances in the case point to an attempt at suicide.

GIRLS WIN THE GAME AT THE UNIVERSITY

BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—For the first time in the history of the State University, men were permitted today to see the girls play basket ball.

The freshmen team of the university defeated the team from the Girls' High School in San Francisco.

It was an excellent game from start to finish, and every play was enjoyed by the large audience.

MONUMENT IN HONOR OF THE GREAT ELECTOR

Emperor William Talks at Unveiling of the Statue.

An Interesting Speech is Made by the Ruler of Germany.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—At Fehrbellin, Brundebourg, today a monument was unveiled in the presence of Emperor William to the memory of the great elector and his defeat of the Swedes there in 1675.

His Majesty, in a speech, took occasion to exhort young Germany to emulate the spirit of the elector.

After alluding to the achievements of the latter and those of Frederick the Great, he continued: "We had nevertheless to pass through Jena to Tilsit. That was the furnace in which God in His Providence considered it necessary to test the gold of Germany and the mark of Brandenburg. It has been vouchsafed to me to administer in times of peace the heritage of my ancestors, but even at such times we can only undisturbedly devote ourselves to the pursuits of peace provided our sons continue as was done in the past to regard as their noblest and highest duty the defense of the fatherland."

BIG RAILWAY DEAL FOR THE CITY OF STOCKTON

H. E. HUNTINGTON TO BUILD AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY FROM SACRAMENTO TO THE SLOUGH CITY.

STOCKTON, Cal., Oct. 18.—A big electric railway project, with H. E. Huntington back of it, is on foot. An electric railway is to be constructed between Stockton and Sacramento, and it will be operated by power furnished by a company engaged in the construction of an immense electric power plant on the American river near Placerville.

The line carrying the power will come to Sacramento, which is almost in a direct line between Stockton and Placerville. The road to Sacramento, according to reliable information, is really an extension of the road from Stockton to Lodi, for which rails have already been purchased, to Oyster Bay to registered his vote for

JAMES OSBORNE CORRIE FOUND DYING AT THE MAISON RICHELIEU

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The body of James Osborne Corrie was found in a room of the Maison Richelieu, a resort at Grant avenue and Geary street, at noon today, with life almost extinct. At the Emergency Hospital the man was said to have taken poison. He is unconscious and no statement can be had. He is named in the directory as having been in Wells-Fargo's auditing department. TALKING OVER NEW FRANCHISE

Representatives of Southern Pacific and New Road Appeared Before Council Committee.

The Council met this afternoon to consider the application of the San Francisco Terminal Railway and Ferry Company for a franchise through the city along Third street to the harbor front.

This franchise is desired to afford an entrance into Oakland for the railroad now running from Stockton to the Tesla coal mines.

It is an open secret that it is really a preliminary step for making Oakland the terminus of another transcontinental line.

The Oakland Board of Trade has warmly endorsed the franchise, and the only grounds of objection thus far urged relate to the grades and the crossings of the tracks. The Southern Pacific, and the spurs leading to the Adams wharf.

The company objects to the conditions which the Southern Pacific desires attached to the franchise, claiming that they are unreasonable and will have the effect of placing the new line at a disadvantage in competing for local traffic.

Each councilman had laid on his desk a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Board of Trade endorsing the application.

Councilman Cadman was called to the chair.

Ruch was not present.

Bishop said Oakland was in favor of railroads. This left only two questions to be considered. First, is this a genuine enterprise; second, as to how the grade crossings shall be regulated.

"I suggest that the hearing be confined to those two points," he said.

A protest signed by several property owners on Third street, objecting to the running of freight trains on that street, was read.

City Attorney Turner presented a report in accordance with the request of the Council dealing with the engineering features of the proposed franchise, which was read at the suggestion of George W. Reed, who appeared for the applicants.

His conclusions were generally in favor of the franchise.

In support of his conclusions, he cited the dimensions of several tunnels recently run on some of the great trunk railways. He said an elevation of twenty-five feet above the city grade was ample at the Seventh avenue crossing, and sixteen feet was sufficient at the Twelfth avenue crossing.

He also recommended an interlocking system at the Webster street crossing. Attached to the report were tables of comparative figures, showing the rules established in other similar cases.

Cavellier objected to the reading of these tables, saying it was a waste of time as no one remembered the figures read half a minute before.

Mr. Turner incorporated in his report a quotation from a railway authority recommending interlocking systems at all crossings, the cost of maintenance being equally shared by both roads.

"I understood that the parties interested on both sides of this controversy were to confer with each other," said Schaffer. "If they have done so, I would like to hear the result."

A. A. Moore, attorney for the Southern Pacific, said the proposed conference had not taken place. He said there had been no time.

"In the absence of any understanding between the companies, it looks like a waste of time for us to sit here listening to flowery speeches and the reading of engineering reports," said Schaffer. "I am willing to stay here all night if it will do any good, but I think we would save time by adjourning and letting the companies get together and come to an understanding."

"Before you make a motion to adjourn I would like Colonel Bendel to be given an opportunity to present a communication on this subject," said Cavellier.

"I would like to say a few words," said Walter J. Barnett, president of the new railroad. "I will speak after Colonel Bendel or say what I have to say now."

"We will hear you now," said Chairman Cadman.

Mr. Barnett proceeded to say that his company was prepared to comply with certain requirements in crossing the Southern Pacific tracks if the Southern Pacific would withdraw opposition to the right of way across that corporation's territory in East Oakland.

"I must say that I admire the gentleman's nerve," said Mr. Cavellier. "He asks permission to address the Council, and says he is willing to speak now or wait until we have heard from Colonel Bendel, but without waiting to receive permission proceeds to make a speech."

"I gave him permission," said Chairman Cadman.

"The gentleman's proposition is rather remarkable," said Mr. Moore. "He says his company will do what the law requires him without condition. I will give him a strip of ground some three hundred feet wide through our land, but it doesn't appeal to me. I don't see why we should give him the land for nothing."

Then Colonel Bendel's protest was read. It was rather lengthy, but was largely a restatement of the objections previously made.

D. Kayser, an insurance agent, said he did not believe the enterprise to be a genuine one.

"A young man came to me and asked me to sign a request for the franchise, and I asked him if it was to be an overland road. He said yes, and then I asked him to give me the names of the parties behind it, and he said he would, but I have never seen him since."

The Council is still in session.

FATHER WILL KILL THE GUILTY MAN.

Dramatic Scene in the Coroner's Office in San Francisco.

Jos. Lannon Is in Danger of Being Shot by Irate Parent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—"You are a man of 30 years, and my child was less than 15. You betrayed her—you killed her. I leave you to this jury first, and then I will avenge the destruction of my little one!"

A heartbroken father rose up in the inquest room of the Coroner's office this morning and raised his trembling hands above his head, while the tears coursed down his rough cheeks. "You ruined her!"

There was a hush in the crowded inquest room, and the anguished father, shaking with emotion, sank into a chair. Upon the witness stand sat Joseph Lannon, who calls himself a race track clerk and who was summoned before Coroner Leland and a jury today to tell what he knew of the death yesterday morning of pretty Anna Kessler.

Lannon sat as if transfixed while Louis Kessler, father of the dead child, "eyed the accusing finger at him and invoked curses to fall upon the man who, he claims, had robbed him of his only child."

ADmits CHARGE TO FATHER.

"Did you take my daughter to 'Tamale'?" asked Mr. Kessler from his seat before the witness.

"Yes, but—"

"And you remained away all night?"

"Yes, but—"

"That was all Kessler wanted to know. He arose from his chair and dramatically denounced Lannon in the manner described, after which he made an attempt to reach the witness, but was stopped by the police.

Lannon told of a red-headed rival he believed he had when he courted Anna, a fellow who lived in Hayes Valley, but he denied he had been engaged to marry her. He said he knew that witnesses to the agreement of marriage were to follow him on the witness stand and pass him the lie.

The jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that the said Anna Kessler, aged 15, residing at 1335 Fillmore street in the city and county of San Francisco, came to her death at said residence on the 17th of October from gas asphyxiation. Death was the result of suicide."

"We, the jury in this case, find that Anna Kessler was evidently led astray by Joseph Lannon, who is employed at the race track, and as the girl was under 15 years of age we recommend that he be punished for his crime."

Lannon disappeared immediately after giving his testimony.

WOMAN STRUCK BY MISDIRECTED CAR.

While acting in the role of a peace-maker, last night, between two street urthurs who were warring with each other, Mrs. C. O'Donnell of 1169 Third street, was hit by a tin can thrown by one of the boys, sustaining a gash on her forehead which required nine stitches to close.

The injury was the result of the bad aim of one of the boys and was not intentionally inflicted.

Mrs. O'Donnell went to the Receiving Hospital where her wound was dressed.

EXTRA SESSION IS CALLED FOR DELAWARE

Republicans Want to Get Two United States Senators.

Governor Must Have Assurances That Something Will Be Done.

DOVER, Del., Oct. 18.—Governor Hunn and Secretary of State Layton have prepared the proclamation calling an extraordinary session of the Legislature. The proclamation awaits only the Governor's signature.

Governor Hunn has given Republican conferees representing the two factions of the State who have been dealing with him in the matter and Senator Quay, who is said to represent the administration at Washington, until 8 o'clock tonight to give him final assurance that some compromise will be made during the extra session to bring about the election of two Republican United States Senators for three and five years respectively and one Republican Congressman from Delaware.

Both the Republican and Democratic organizations are said to be preoccupied with their own party on the jump next Monday if necessary.

GRAND JUNIOR WARDEN FLINT.

THE HIGHEST STATE MASONIC HONORS IN VIEW OF WELL KNOWN LOS ANGELES.

At the last session of the Grand Lodge of Masons of this State, in San Francisco, Motly H. Flint of Los Angeles, was elected grand junior warden of that august body.

This was the only office for which there was a contest.

Such a contest is, generally speaking, an annual affair because the office of grand junior warden is looked upon as the stepping stone to the successively higher offices of grand senior warden and grand master mason.

The contest, in this instance, resulted in the selection of Motly H. Flint, past master of East Gate Lodge, No. 290, of Los Angeles.

Mr. Flint's preference was an honor of which he might well be proud, because the delegates to the grand lodge, in supporting a candidate for this position, always display not only the maximum of intelligence, but, at the same time, a loyalty to the best interests of the craft which impels them to select only the best men available for the positions in the gift of the members.

Junior Warden Flint is assistant superintendent of the Postoffice Department, salary and allowance division, and very popular in the order and out of it. He is well known here and the honor conferred upon him is appreciated by his friends as having been honestly earned and also fittingly bestowed.

BOXERS ARE STILL FREE TO SLAUGHTER.

Missionaries Are Asked Not to Travel in Certain Places.

Emperor Holds His Reception in the Summer Palace.

PEKING, Oct. 18.—The new viceroy of Sze Chuen province, Tsen Chun Sun, reports that the Boxers have not been suppressed at Cheng Tu and two other centers and he asks the missionaries and missionaries to refrain from traveling in Central Sze Chuen at present.

The Emperor's reception at the summer palace today was attended by the diplomatic corps and the commanders of the legation guards, except in the case of the British minister, Sir Ernest Satow, he having declined all social intercourse on account of the misbehavior of justice in the case of the murdered English missionaries, Bruce and Lewis, in Ho Nan province, where the responsible officials were exculpated and ignorant peasants were beheaded.

W. C. T. U. IS IN SESSION IN STATE OF MAINE.

PORTLAND, Maine, Oct. 18.—Reports of organizers and physical condition of the organization occupied most of the time at today's session of the W. C. T. U. The proposed amendments to the constitution to add to the delegates the vice-presidents of each State was indefinitely postponed. An amendment to the pledge by adding the words "and tobacco in any form" following the tobacco "wine, beer and cider" was referred to the executive committee.

Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey of Maine reported for the department of peace and international arbitration, of which she is superintendent.

"The work of the peace department is still expanding and flourishing, although wars and rumors of wars have decreased," said Mrs. Bailey.

There are 27,000 men in national homes in the United States being supported by the government entirely, and more than twice that number that are receiving general support at their homes by pensions, and these burdens are bequeathed to the future generation as a result of our wars.

Only enough soldiers and gunboats for use as domestic police are needed by any country which determines to submit its international differences to the court of arbitration.

An appeal was sent from this department last spring asking local superintendents to observe the anniversary of the international peace conference at The Hague, by holding public meetings and passing resolutions in the interest of peace. Many responded favorably to the appeal.

Three hundred and eighty thousand names of literate and many books and papers have been distributed in the interest of peace; 155 public meetings held; the public press has been utilized; Bible readings have been given; resolutions passed in ten conventions of various organizations and hundreds of peace songs placed in schools and homes.

Varsity Captain MAY NOT PLAY.

BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—The news that Captain Albertson might not be allowed to play in the intercollegiate football game on November 8th, has caused considerable alarm among the students of the University. According to the intercollegiate athletic agreement, the names of all men eligible to play properly certified by members of the Faculty, must be forwarded to the Stanford management tonight.

The list can only include those men who are taking ten units of University work. The trouble has arisen over the refusal of Dr. Seabury, Dean of the College of Pharmacy, in which Albertson is enrolled, to certify to this until he makes a further investigation.

News of Dr. Seabury's position was forwarded this morning in a postal to Professor George C. Edwards, chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee. Unless a favorable reply upon Albertson's work is received by 12 o'clock tonight, the Varsity's captain will not be eligible for the game.

Captain Albertson maintains that he is taking his full ten units in the College of Pharmacy, and that the attitude of its dean is due to some mistake.

TWO LAUNCHINGS ON THE HARBOR.

PAIR OF STAUNCH CRAFT IN TWO YARDS GLIDE INTO THE WATER AT NOON TODAY.

There were two launchings on Oakland Harbor today. One of these took place at the yards of Hay & Wright on the south side of the harbor, when the four-masted schooner, Virginia, glided into the water.

The other was at the yard of Boole & Son, where the barkentine Pauko became the "bride of the sea."

Both vessels went down the ways within an interval of about thirty minutes.

In each instance, the launching was a success and several thousand people witnessed the spectacle.

The Pauko is a sister-ship of the Koko Head which was launched in the same yard in January last. She is 216 feet over all; 216 feet keel, 41 feet beam, 17 feet depth of hold, tonnage 1,100, capacity 1,600,000 feet of lumber. The cost is $35,000. She has been built for H. H. L. & Co. of Honolulu.

The Virginia, which has been built for Sweet & Loop is 170 feet on the keel, 37 feet beam, and 13 feet depth of hold. It has a capacity of 750,000 feet of lumber and the cost will approximate $75,000.

TOWN TRUSTEES INSTITUTE SUIT

THREE YEAR LEGAL CONTEST TO BE SETTLED BY CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—At a meeting of the Town Board of Trustees, held last night, Town Attorney Hayne was instructed to institute condemnation proceedings against the property of U. C. Webb of Shattuck avenue.

This action on the part of the town authorities is the outcome of a three years' conflict between the town and Webb, in which the matter was brought three times before the courts, and in which the town was defeated each time.

The property is desired by the town for sewer purposes.

The previous attempts made to gain it were by criminal cases, in which Webb was charged with obstructing a water course. The decision in each one of these cases was given to the defendant.

It is thought that the present proceedings will result in favor of the town, as Webb will not fight a condemnation proceedings.

The other business transacted by the board was merely of a routine nature. A liquor license was granted to J. Clark of West Berkeley, who will establish himself in business at the corner of Third and Bristol streets. A. J. Coffey was granted an extension of thirty days on his contract for building a new house at 2700 Webster street. Wells was instructed to prepare plans for alterations on the Peralta Fire House, the alterations not to cost more than $800.

A CARD.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Libby wish to express their sincere thanks to their many kind friends who have sympathized with them in their bereavement, and to the loss of their beloved daughter, Josie. The impossibility of making personal and immediate reply to all makes it fitting that we should express, through this brief note, our gratitude to those who have helped us to bear the great sorrow.

A CARD OF THANKS.

To the members of Companies A, F and G, and the Sixth Regiment Band, and to all those who aided in any way at the funeral of Major Whitlock. I wish to extend my most grateful thanks. Sincerely, MRS. A. D. WHITLOCK.

KING EDWARD WANTS PICTURES

AMERICAN GENERALS TO SEND PHOTOS TO HIS HIGHNESS.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The visit of General Corbin and Young to England was concluded this morning, when they left Waterloo Railroad station to embark on the American line steamer Philadelphia at Southampton.

A crowd of friends was present, including Sir Thomas Lipton, Secretary Carter, representing the Ambassador Chateau, Naval Attaché Clover and Military Attaché Cassatt.

General Young said: "The trouble with English hospitality is that they make you feel you are doing them a favor in accepting it. It was all a little more than we could do to take advantage of all the kindnesses proffered here. Our stay was a little longer than we expected and now I am looking forward to getting back to work at the War College."

King Edward asked the Generals for their photographs.

COMES FROM PORTLAND.

H. G. Reed, who, for the past six years has been resident manager of the Wiley B. Allen Company in Portland, Me., has come to Oakland to reside permanently and to act as associate manager with L. G. Atkins of the local house of that firm in this city. Mr. Reed is a thorough and practical piano man and will undoubtedly prove a valuable acquisition to the firm in Oakland.

EDEN TOWNSHIP IS FOR REPUBLICANISM.

Candidates on County Ticket Receive a Splendid Ovation in the Town of Haywards— Campaign Lies Are Refuted.

A thousand people gathered in the Native Sons' and Daughters' Hall last night in Haywards to cheer the County candidates and to listen to the exposition of sound Republican doctrines. Every mention of Dr. George C. Pardee's name was greeted with cheers, as was also the names of the national leaders.

The large hall, which would do credit to a town twice the size of Haywards, was packed to the doors, although the residents of the community had only twenty-four hours' notification of the meeting. The enthusiasm was general and each happy remark of the candidates was applauded. As a proof of the esteem in which the Republican nominees were held each of the candidates was presented with a bouquet of flowers at the conclusion of his speech.

The Foresters' Band did excellent service as did the Republican Glee Club, which was compelled to respond to a dozen encores.

County Central Committeeman Dave Roberts called the large audience together and named G. S. Langan to preside and introduce the various candidates.

W. E. GREENE.

Superior Judge W. E. Greene was the first called upon. The venerable jurist was given a hearty demonstration. He declared himself in favor of George C. Pardee and the entire Republican ticket.

JUDGE MELVIN.

Judge Henry A. Melvin was then called upon. He made a stirring Republican speech which drew from the audience hearty approval in the way of spontaneous applause.

"This looks like a Republican audience. When I look into faces as intelligent as these before me, I know that I face an assemblage of American citizens who glory in the splendid achievements of the Republican party during the last thirty years, and I know they will vote to perpetuate the prosperity McKinley has left us as a heritage of his matchless statesmanship."

The best way to express approval of McKinley's administration, which has been so carefully and ably followed out by his worthy successor, President Roosevelt, is to vote for Dr. George C. Pardee for Governor.

"I have very little to say about my friend, Franklin K. Lane, except that he is a splendid fellow. But if you vote for him you vote for free trade and all that will follow in its wake."

"If, however, you vote for George C.

Pardee you vote for protection of the American workman, you vote for that principle which has kept the party intact for the last thirty years.

"They tell a great many things about Pardee. I wish to call your attention to one of the things I know of him. A few days ago, I heard some men say that he was an aristocrat and had no sympathy with the masses.

"In connection with that I will relate to you an experience I had a few days ago while visiting the Blind Asylum Home. I asked those men if they would vote for Alameda's favorite son for Governor. This is the reply I got from those men from whom the blessed sunlight is entirely shut out: 'Vote for him, of course we will. We would be lacking in the most common gratitude if we did not vote for him. Many and many is the man who has left this place with his sight restored, owing to Dr. Pardee's services and he never accepted a single cent from any of these men.'"

"Now they tell you Pardee is an aristocrat. Do you believe a man with a heart as great as that is not full of sympathy?"

"There is no question of the truth, which if the ladies were not here, I would characterize by something more harsh. It concerns my friend, who, by the way, will be the next County Assessor, John Mitchell. It is said that he voted for a reduction of $1,500,000 of the Contra Costa Company's assessment. This is false. I happened to be in Board of Equalization when the vote was taken. John Mitchell voted 'no.'"

"That is lie number two. "There is another one which I would like to tell. I understand that one of our esteemed candidates of the opposition has been saying that we stole our nominations. Do we look like larcenists of that stamp? The gentleman who made that statement has not read the primary law, under which every man on this platform secured his nomination."

"There is not a candidate upon this ticket but what received the solid support of his home delegation. The home delegations nominated each candidate. If one's friends and neighbors can secure the nomination, then I say we have a ticket which represents as accurately as is possible the will of the people."

JUDGE HALL.

Judge S. P. Hall was the next speaker. He thanked the people for their support in the past and asked that the entire Republican ticket be elected.

OSCAR ROGERS.

Sheriff Oscar L. Rogers was the next of the candidates introduced. He was given a great ovation.

JACK COOK.

John P. Cook, candidate for County Clerk, was the next speaker introduced. He was given an ovation lasting several minutes. When he could obtain a hearing, he said:

"Haywards has accomplished two things which are matters of congratulation. This magnificent hall is the result of the indefatigable efforts of the Native Sons and Daughters. "Another thing of which the town has good cause to be proud is the successful conduct of the Haywards Street Fair. This was also the work of the Native Sons and Daughters of this town."

"From the ovations which have been given the name of the Republican standard-bearer and the reception given the various candidates, I conclude that the town will go solidly Republican. The enthusiasm has the genuine ring, and I will not detain you with any extended remarks."

"I most heartily commend to you these gentlemen on the platform. I know them to be honorable men, and I know you will make no mistake in voting the ticket from top to bottom."

JOHN MITCHELL.

Supervisor John Mitchell, candidate for County Assessor, was next introduced. He was given a hearty greeting, especially after he had named a couple of campaign lies. He said in part:

"There are a great number of stories being set afloat about the candidates. The opposition has honored me by stating that I would not appoint any Labor Union men on the election boards under my control as Supervisor. If that is a sample of the best thing they can spring against me, I am out to be elected. There are just ninety-two Labor Union men on the boards, who were appointed by me."

ROBERT GREIG.

Robert Greig, the candidate for County Recorder, was next introduced and was received with great applause. He recommended to the voters the entire ticket from George C. Pardee to Constable Ramage.

ARTHUR FEIDLER.

The appearance of County Treasurer Arthur Feidler was a signal for the outbreak of applause.

J. CAL EWING.

County Auditor J. Cal Ewing was the recipient of a flattering amount of applause from the audience. His speech was effective and was cheered at its conclusion. He said:

"The people of this county cast a sufficient number of ballots for me four years ago to elect me to the office of County Auditor. During the forty-five months I have been in office there has not been one-half a cent unaccounted for. If the people of this county think my stewardship has been satisfactory, I again submit my claims to their consideration. "The Republican party believes in reciprocity. It is a good principle. The party has given the people unexampled good times and as a matter of reciprocity the people should return the party to power by voting the ticket straight from top to bottom."

JAMES BARBER.

County Tax Collector James Barber was the next candidate presented. He made a brief but effective speech in which he appealed to the voters to support the party whose achievements have placed America in the vanguard of all nations. At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Barber was applauded for several minutes.

E. C. PRATHER.

Acting County Surveyor E. C. Prather was the next of the candidates to be presented by the chairman. He addressed the audience briefly and was accorded an attentive hearing.

FOR CORONER MEHRMANN.

A. P. Leach, Deputy District Attorney, made a ringing appeal for Coroner Mehrmann, who is ill. He won many friends by his short talk. Mehrmann's name was cheered for several minutes at the conclusion of his speech.

JOHN G. MATTOX.

Assemblyman John G. Mattox, candidate for re-election, was given a hearty greeting. He promised, in the event of his re-election, to serve the people as honestly and faithfully as he had in the past.

SUPERVISOR TALCOTT.

Supervisor Talcott, candidate for re-election, was given a grand reception, which left absolutely no doubt as to his return to the office to which he aspires.

JOHN J. ALLEN.

District Attorney John J. Allen, candidate for re-election, made one of his characteristic speeches, which moved the audience to great enthusiasm. His masterly and forceful presentation of the issues of the day was listened to with great interest.

JUDGE PROWSE.

Justice of the Peace Charles Prowse was given a warm reception, as was also Constable Ramage.

GEORGE GRAY.

George Gray, candidate for Public Administrator, brought the meeting to a close. He was given a rousing reception by the entire audience. It was several minutes before his townspeople gave him an opportunity to speak.

He asked the people of Eden township to support the entire ticket.

CONCERT FOR THE SISTERS' HOSPITAL

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF TALENT ENGAGED FOR NEXT THURSDAY.

The grand concert to be given under the auspices of the local councils of the Y. M. C. A. at the Macdonough Theater next Thursday evening, October 23, for the benefit of the Sisters of Providence Hospital, Oakland, will undoubtedly be a brilliant success, artistically and financially. The members of the committee are doing everything possible to make the concert a success. The general membership is backing up the efforts of those whom they have elected in charge of the affair, and all have one object in view—success.

Tickets are selling rapidly and are being exchanged for reserved seats at Smith Brothers' book store, Twelfth and Washington streets, where a plan of the theater is shown. No extra charge is made for these seats.

Tickets can also be had from the members of the institute in this city and Alameda.

Among those who will take part are the following well-known artists of San Francisco and Oakland:

Hon. Eugene B. Schmitz; Mrs. Martin Schmitz, soprano; Harry Wood Brown, baritone; Miss Josephine Bonini, contralto; Quartet (ladies); Alfred Roncovieri, (bass); Willam J. O'Brien, tenor; Mrs. Orlin Kip, soprano; Miss George, pianist; Dick's Quartet.

No music should miss this rare treat. The object should insure a full house, and every member of the institute in this city and Alameda is making a special effort to pack the theater on the evening of the 23d.

CHURCH PEOPLE TO REMAIN IN FOLD

After four months of discussion and contention, the troubles which threatened to disrupt the Plymouth-avenue Congregational church have been settled by an ecclesiastical council, and the church of worship which has been a landmark of North Oakland for twenty-eight years will not be turned over to the Presbyterians, as proposed by some of the disgruntled members of the congregation. Instead, the members will continue to worship there according to the Congregational doctrine and steps will be taken at once to secure the services of a shepherd to look after the spiritual welfare of the flock.

ARTISTS WILL MAKE EXHIBIT IN NOVEMBER.

The Trustees of the "Oakland Art Fund" are busily engaged arranging for the forthcoming exhibition which is to take place on November 21 to 26 inclusive, with the exception of the 23, which is Sunday. It has been arranged that the opening night be in the form of a reception to the artists, and will be for subscribing members only, the exhibition not being open to the public until Saturday, November 22. The evening there will be a special musical program, and all the artists who have pictures on exhibition will be present.

Any one subscribing one dollar to the art fund will be entitled to either four single or two double tickets, transferable after the first night. Any one wishing to join can do so by communicating with the secretary, Mrs. E. A. Kluegel, 1131 Linden street.

The following artists are among those who will exhibit: J. B. Kelch, J. P. Latimer, H. J. Bruer, C. E. Nelson, Sidney J. Yard, C. C. Judson, Blenden R. Campbell, G. Cadenasso, Annie Frances Briggs, M. De Neals, Morris G. F. Plazson, Bertha Stringer Lee, John M. Gamble, Oscar Kunarh, Gertrude Boyle, J. M. Griffin, Louise Schwamm, Frank Heath.

There will be special reception committees for each evening, and various other committees that will be announced later.

MERRIT MAKES IT FAMOUS.

The Only Remedy in the World, Except a Surgical Operation, that Will Certainly Cure Any Form of Piles.

The study of physicians, the experiments of chemists, the loudly advertised pretensions of quacks, have been for years expended in one direction; to find a pile cure that would cure.

The results have been a number of harmless and in most cases useless ointments, suppositories and even internal remedies, which the public have weighed in the balance of experience and found wanting; nearly all of them gave some relief, but nothing approaching a radical cure resulted from these preparations.

The remedy required is one which will immediately stop the pain so severe in many cases of piles, and then by contracting the small blood vessels (capillaries) to their normal size, produces a radical cure by reducing and finally absorbing the tumors and healing the inflamed, raw mucous surfaces.

Until a few years ago, no such remedy had been produced, but at that time a suppository was placed upon the market, which has since proven itself to be the long sought permanent cure for this common and distressing trouble; it has rapidly become famous throughout the United States and Canada, and is now sold by all druggists under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure.

It is now the best known, because its merit and safety have been advertised wherever used. It has been advertised by word of mouth, from one sufferer to another; people who have tried everything else, even submitting to painful and dangerous surgical operations, without avail have finally found that piles can be cured without pain and without expense practically, as the Pyramid Pile Cure is sold for the nominal price of 50 cents and $1 per package.

The Pyramid instantly stops all pain and at the same time contains no cocaine, morphine or narcotics; the acids and healing properties contained in the remedy speedily remove a healthy, natural contraction and absorption of the tumors; it will cure any form of rectal trouble except cancer and advanced fistula, which, by the way, nearly always results from neglecting proper and timely treatment for piles.

A book on cause and cure of piles sent free by addressing Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

MAKING WINE AT IRVINGTON

LADIES' BAZAAR AT MISSION PROMISES TO BE A SUCCESS.

IRVINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Ladies' Bazaar at Mission San Jose will, no doubt, prove a decided success, as each night the hall has been crowded and all are willing workers. It will probably close Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ladd of San Francisco is visiting Mrs. J. Chabourne of Irvington. The winery at Irvington is running at full blast and several hundred tons of grapes are hauled to it daily from the surrounding country.

Misses Leoreta and Angie and their mother, Mrs. C. Echeverria of Warm Springs, have rented their ranch and intend moving to San Francisco, where they expect to reside in the future.

Charles Reuter of Oakland and Mr. Smith of San Francisco were the guests of H. Cushing over Sunday.

Fred Lowry of Centerville shipped a number of horses this afternoon on the train to San Francisco.

Mrs. William Jury of Mowry's Landing is reported to be quite ill.

RACING GOSSIP FROM THE CHICAGO TRACK

Chicago, Oct. 14, 1902. Editor Tribune:—As a patron of your paper I send you the following notes of interest to racing men:

The fall meeting of the North Jockey Club opened most auspiciously on Tuesday the 7th, the weather being almost ideal for racing. The large crowds in attendance during the week does great credit to the management. Every available bit of space in the grand stand was occupied. The racing was some of the best yet around Chicago.

The feature race of the opening day was the Flyaway sweepstakes with $1,000 added, and was taken by Waswift, the speedy son of Wawkesa, a chestnut colt owned by one of the greatest sprinters now in the middle West, having beaten Lucien Apple by J. V. Kirby, flying Torpedo, and many others.

At the track are quartered many well known stables including the stable of the veteran turfman and trainer Green B. Morris, who has a string of some twelve good horses. Mr. Morris arrived Thursday from New York and will race here during the North meeting before journeying to the coast. He has in his stable, some of the best horses now in the country, such as Old England, Sombro, Homestead, Curran, Arcturion, Gold Van, Slave, Gravana, Durazzo and Stuyve, frequent winners at the Metropolitan tracks this season. Mr. Morris' colors are now carried by Jockey Daily, who has been riding at Chicago for E. J. Edwards. Mr. Morris hopes to secure the services of Winnie O'Connor, the best riding on the coast this winter but it is questionable whether Mr. Featherstone will allow him to go to the coast. It would please many of the race goers in California to see Winnie again connect himself with the Morris stable.

Among those who are here and who will race at California are: E. J. B. Ezell & Lazarus, D. Fountain, Charlie Edsall, Fred Cook, Frank Phillips, Fred Edwards, and many others. The North Jockey Club has drawn up conditions for a special race which seems likely to be a big object desired. If the race should come off it will be run on the last of this week. With such good horses as McChesney, Sombro and many others to mention, the California people will be assured of some well contested races.

Those who had the pleasure of meeting John Condon when he visited the coast last winter will be pleased to hear that he is slowly but surely being restored. An eminent physician from Baltimore has been in this city very soon, and is making a thorough investigation into the case. He will remain here long enough to give Mr. Condon a thorough examination, and will then return to his interview with Mr. Williams in the hope that they may be privileged to race over the California tracks this coming season.

Any one who has read of the Boots-Lorrell case naturally will be interested when Mr. Williams arrives here. There is some probability that his case may be taken up although it has been the ruling of the Jockey Club to accept invariably the rulings of the European jockey clubs. Jockeys, trainers and owners who do not accept the European turf will of course, under the above rulings be barred unless rescued by the European club.

YOUNG MAN WILL PREACH THE GOSPEL

Mr. Rudolph Norde, who recently arrived from St. Louis, was ordained a minister of the Gospel Thursday evening at the Zion German Lutheran church on Twelfth street near Myrtle.

The special evening services opened at 7:30 o'clock with selections by the choir. Rev. J. J. Norde, pastor, preached the sermon, taking for his text, Second Corinthians 3-5-6, and for his theme: "Why should a young minister enter cheerfully upon the duties of church work? Firstly, because God Himself calls him through the congregation; and secondly, because it is such an important office to which he is called."

After the sermon the ceremony of ordination took place. Rev. J. H. Theiss officiated. Rev. Theiss was assisted by Rev. G. A. Bernthal of St. Paul's church, San Francisco, Rev. J. H. Schroeder of St. John's and Rev. M. L. of Richmond District, San Francisco. Rev. J. H. Witte of Emmanuel church, Alameda, and Rev. B. W. Lange of Bethlehem church, Berkeley. A large number of parishioners were present, also a number of clergymen.

RUPTURE

We Cure to Stay CURED

"I was cured of rupture by the Fidelity Method in February, this year. I have not worn a truss since. I have just returned from a trip to Europe, where I traveled extensively, carrying heavy baggage and undergoing a severe test. I have felt no symptoms of the rupture returning, and do not hesitate to say I am sound and well."

OAKLAND BALL PLAYERS AGAIN IN GOOD FORM.

THEY WIN HANDILY FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO TEAM—SURE PENNANT WINNERS.

The local baseball team had no difficulty in hitting Glendon yesterday, at Recreation Park and, when the game compared returns, it was found that Oakland had ten base hits with nine runs, while the Ponies were credited with but three tallies made out of nine base hits. It was easy for the locals. All they had to do was to hit the ball and run for a base or two and then the next man would send out a smash and another run would be chalked.

The only funeral feature about the game was in the sixth inning when Catcher Gordon of Oakland, in running to third, turned his left ankle and was compelled to retire from the play. Gordon was making for the bag with all speed on. When he reached third, he attempted to make a short turn. His spikes caught in the bag, as he fell, the twist came.

Both Dunleavy and Courtney made a spectacular play apiece. Dunleavy pounced upon the bounding ball back of second base and, while in a bad throwing position, managed to get the sphere over to first and made a putout out of a seemingly safe hit. Courtney did himself proud by a one-hand catch near the fence of McCreedy's double.

Pitcher George Cooper did much to keep the hired man of Harris down by presenting them with twist and shoots that were beyond the capacity to safely connect with.

The score of base hits and runs by innings:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
San Francisco	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	3
Oakland	0	0	0	0	1	4	2	8
Base Hits	0	0	0	0	1	4	2	8

THE HARDY SHOOTING CASE GOES OVER.

The preliminary examination of W. F. Hardy, the coachman who shot a Chinese cook on Fruit Valley Avenue several months ago, which was to have been held yesterday before Judge Larne in East Oakland has been continued until the 21 of this month. The defendant was represented by T. M. McNamara, a well-known criminal lawyer of San Francisco. The continuance was granted at the request of the defense who desired more time in which to secure important witnesses.

TRAINING HARD FOR THE FIGHT

"KID" M'FADDEN AND EDDIE HANLON WILL PUT UP A GREAT BATTLE.

A representative of THE TRIBUNE visited the training quarters of Kid McFadden in San Rafael yesterday. What was seen there bears out the statements made in this paper to the effect that Kid McFadden would enter the ring next Tuesday evening in better condition than he ever was before in his life. The way the red-topped fighter did his work and the narrow escape of Frank Rafael from going out of business at the Kid's hands showed that the little fellow is very much in earnest.

After posing for a number of photographs and for a cartoonist McFadden and Rafael repaired to the gymnasium where they went four of the fastest rounds it has been the pleasure of the newspaper to witness for some time. It was given and taken all the way, and when the end of the fourth round came Rafael was very glad to take off his trunks. The Kid came out of the mix-up breathing naturally, and immediately took on young Frank Sheridan, a local feather-weight who showed great speed. This was also a fast four rounds, and the Kid finished in a profuse perspiration, but his breathing out of the kind he showed no indication of being tired.

Hanlon is working carefully at Croll's Gardens, in Alameda under the care of Harry Foley, with Mike Short as general manager. The greatest battle witnessed on this coast. In anticipation of a large attendance the club has nearly doubled its seating capacity, and

I have for years heard good things of your Wine of Cardui, but never really knew how excellent a remedy it is, until last fall when I became suddenly chilled when I was out and not clad warm enough. Unfortunately it happened at a time when every woman should use extra precaution against colds. As a consequence the functions of Nature stopped and although I thought of it at the time I soon found that it was much more serious than I had anticipated. It is cheap to make the experiment any- until over a month had passed and I had found no relief. I had terrible cramps and pains, intense backache and dizzy spells. The doctor said inflammation had set in and prescribed for me. But nothing seemed to help me. Reading your Almanac I soon became interested in Wine of Cardui. I then remembered hearing some of my lady friends telling how grand it was. I then dismissed my doctor and decided to try Wine of Cardui. I took it for three weeks and to my great joy I found relief. Gradually the inflammation passed away. I became more regular and suffered no more pains, whatever. I am sure there are hundreds of women who are daily suffering as I did, who do not know which way to turn for relief. To these I would say: "Stop paying doctors' bills and taking medicine you know nothing of; stop letting the doctors experiment on you. Half of them don't know what really ails their patients. Stop wasting your strength and your money and take Wine of Cardui. After you have taken one bottle of Wine of Cardui you will feel so much better and you are sure to be cured if human skill can cure. It is cheap to make the experiment any- how and take my word for it, you will not regret it. I am glad to give you this unsolicited testimonial, glad to do my little to show my appreciation and only hope it may be the means of advising some poor suffering woman, and may help them from daily misery to health and happiness."

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Tribune Publishing Company

William E. Dargie, President

NOT SO DEFIANT NOW.

The coal barons sing in a different key now from what they did when President Roosevelt first called them in conference. Their truculent and defiant tone is changed to one of pleading, and the attitude of master is altered to that of suppliant. The reason is not far to seek. It is evident that the President has resolved to test the power of the law to break up the coal combine. Then there are ominous warnings of projected legislation by Congress and in the States most affected to dissolve such combinations as the coal trust and prevent them in future. Added to this the universal storm of reprobation that is being visited on them caused the coal barons to come off their high horse. They discovered that they were playing with fire. They whine that they cannot afford to pay an increase in wages, but if they can charge what they please for coal why can they not. An increase of ten per cent in wages means increasing the price of coal less than twenty-five cents a ton in the ordinary selling price. The excuse is ridiculous. However, the communication submitted by J. P. Morgan makes it plain that the real trouble lies in the determination of the operators not to treat with the Union or to recognize it in any way. It is not a question of the rate of wages for the present, as it is one of policy. The nine owners are determined not to allow the Union to gain such a foothold as would enable it to abate the exactions and extortions now practiced on the miners in the coal regions.

QUINN AND STETSON.

A good record is a man's best endorsement. Judged by this standard John W. Stetson should be re-elected City Justice by a unanimous vote. He is a young man of unsullied character, of genial temper and honorable ambition. He was elected City Justice four years, and his conduct in office has only served to increase the respect of the public and the confidence of his friends. He has every claim to re-election that a good character, a clean official record and tried capacity can supply. Judge Stetson was born in Alameda and reared among his constituents. Where he is so well known he requires no encomiums. His unanimous re-nomination by the Republican convention testifies to his political as well as his personal standing.

James G. Quinn has a record as Township Justice equally as admirable and free from blemish as Judge Stetson's. His personal character is high and his attainments first-class. He is a thoroughly honorable and clean-handed young man, who has given entire satisfaction during the past four years. His re-nomination by the Republican party was fully deserved. During his term the administration of justice in his office has been worthy of the highest praise. It has been of a character to justify every confidence. Justice Quinn should be re-elected by a large majority.

Candidate Lane is a veritable Mark Tapley. While every one else sees that his candidacy, a forlorn hope at the beginning, is steadily failing, he goes on cheerfully painting a rosy picture of his prospects and predicting his success with a confidence that nothing can dampen. He started out declaring San Francisco would give him 15,000 majority. Now he declares the State will give him 15,000 majority. Well, let him be happy while he may, his vision will be as short-lived as his disappointment will be long enduring. The first blast in November will kill all his bright hopes.

Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, shows that the Democratic remedy of free trade as an antidote for the trusts is not a new one. In 1859 the then Democratic leader of the House William L. Wilson opposed the Sherman anti-trust law, and advocated the abolition of tariff duties as a means of breaking up the trusts. So, it appears that the Democratic idea of killing the dog to get rid of the fleas does not have the merit of originality even. It belongs to the formula of Dr. Sangre, who bled his patients for all complaints: the lower the patient the more he bled him.

All classes of citizens are manifesting approval in the candidacy of John Mitchell for Assessor. His record as a business man during his residence of twenty years in this community has given him a high place in public estimation, and his course as a Supervisor has shown that he is a man worthy of public trust.

Edward P. Colgan has been elected State Controller three times, each time by an increased majority. His majority this year will be a record-breaker, for the people know a good man when they see him.

Candidate Lane still makes praise of President Roosevelt his chief claim to election. But why? It may be legitimately urged in behalf of Dr. Pardee, but not for Mr. Lane.

The workmen are going to give the Democrats what the Democrats gave them during Cleveland's last Administration—Soup.

A SPLENDID LEADER.

The coal miners have been peculiarly fortunate in their choice of a leader during the great strike. John Mitchell has shown himself to be a singularly able manager. He held his followers under marvelous control, and exhibited great self control himself. He has played the part of a clever diplomat all through, and not the least of his merits has been his studious abstention from inflammatory utterances and denunciations of the mine owners. He has only talked when necessary and when he did speak his language was temperate in tone and conservative in statement.

Mr. Mitchell has set an example which strike leaders would do well to heed hereafter. It is to be hoped that strikes will be fewer in the future, but if such industrial conflicts have to come, it will be well if they are to be led by men of Mitchell's mould and character. He has unquestionably done a great deal to advance the cause of arbitration. In reality he has gained the main point of his contention, which was a general arbitration of the grievances of the miners. This was exactly what the mine owners absolutely refused to accede to. They have at last been brought to submit the case to an arbitration. Whatever may be the outcome, the miners will, at least, have the opportunity of presenting their case before a non-partisan tribunal. They have obtained a hearing, and it is now incumbent upon them to make out their case. The public generally will be deeply interested in the proceeding, for the facts regarding the situation in the anthracite colliery districts will now be laid open in such a manner as to afford a basis for determining judgment. This will enable the outside public to get at the root of the trouble and to locate the blame.

FOR STATE PRINTER.

W. W. Shannon, the Republican nominee for State Printer, is a practical printer, and is thoroughly acquainted with every branch of the printing business. He worked his way up from a journeyman at the case to be foreman of one of the largest job offices in San Francisco. His training and experience, therefore, have qualified him in every sense to take charge of the State's great printing establishment at Sacramento. Few people realize the magnitude of that concern, or how necessary it is to have a practical printer of marked executive ability at the head of it. Mr. Shannon not only has a complete knowledge of the mechanical side of his trade, but he is well informed in regard to its business side. He is besides a man of sterling character, very popular with the men engaged in the printing trade. The voters will make no mistake in placing him in office, for his record guarantees a competent and economical management of the State Printing Office.

The three Republican nominees for Superior Judges Samuel P. Hall, Harry A. Melvin and W. E. Greene have proved their worth and fitness. Their election means a strong and upright Bench.

As the canvass proceeds it is evident that John P. Cook will be elected County Clerk by a large majority. His superb qualification for the office has very much impressed the voters.

A good Auditor is a great safeguard to the County Treasurer, and that is why J. Cal Ewing is going to get such a big vote.

BERKELEY COUPLE ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—The engagement of Miss Louise McQueen, the daughter of Le Roy N. McQueen, a well known mining king of the Klondike, to Robert P. H. Berkeley is announced. The bride-to-be is at present studying in a young ladies' seminary in this city. Her father is engaged in business in San Francisco with his father. The date of the wedding has not as yet been set.

TODAY'S NEWS LETTER.

Even the general excellence of the San Francisco News Letter is surpassed by today's issue, which is full from cover to cover of bright, interesting matter. The history of the Newspaper Writers' Union up to date is fully told by the Looker-On, who also relates some other choice stories. The verses in the Town Crier on the new heir of the Fairs are the best that have appeared in the News Letter for a long time. There is an excellent article on Chinese gamblers by J. M. Scanlan, and there are a number of Mascagni anecdotes, told in the News Letter by the Italian singers at the Tivoli. Fashion occupies a prominent position in this issue, and feminine hearts will be delighted at the detailed descriptions of the newest things in hair-cure. Besides all this, there are the snappy cynical comments, the department of civic improvements, financial, insurance, automobile, literary and dramatic departments, and the pages devoted to society gossip and doings. Politics are not neglected and all the events of the day are treated intelligently.

BETTY MARTIN DISCUSSES THE MARRIAGE QUESTION

SOME ADVICE TO THE MARRIED AND UNMARRIED PEOPLE—GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

Is Mayor A. F. Knotts of Hammond, Indiana, a philanthropist, or only a crank?

He has offered to perform the marriage ceremony free for all residents of the town over which he presides as chief executive officer.

"Unmarried men, and unmarried women, for that matter, too," argues the Mayor, "are apt to be more unsettled, untroubled, and unsocial than those who are married, and are therefore, harder to govern."

So far, so good. Nobody will dispute these facts. Single individuals are prone to look with scorn upon social obligations, and to evince predilections for a Bohemian sort of life if disposed to be jolly, or if the young sort, they draw farther and farther away from their kind, and lead a miserable, lonely existence. Unsettled and untroubled they are, certainly, most of them, for the very possession of a latch key leads to a sort of independence not recognized by those who do not own one.

In line with the charitably inclined Mayor is the celebrated professor who only recently announced it as his opinion that unmarried ones were "moral degenerates."

So there you are! At best it seems but a sort of Hobson's choice, although the good St. Paul, whom the parsons of the country have been quoting with such fervor as an authority on headgear, also gave some very explicit directions regarding matrimony.

Whether it is better to take the bull by the horns, as it were, and plunge boldly into the business of matrimony, or to let well enough alone, and follow the ways of single blessedness is still an open question to be solved only by the individual.

Mayor Knotts may be all right in his desire to do more knots, but there are those who argue that if a man hasn't money enough to pay the parson, he certainly wouldn't be apt to have any to live on.

Such doubters are apt to forget the fact that in these enlightened days if a man can provide the water, the average woman can surely make shift to pay the baker. Not only this, but certain eminent jurists have recently declared that she should do this, if more competent than her life partner.

The day has gone by when women may sit at home and watch the game of life. It is now incumbent upon them to rustle for the where-withal if necessary, and they are proving themselves equal to the emergency. A few banks and places of like staid character, frown down upon the custom of men marrying without a fixed income, and one such institution has placed the limit at a thousand dollars a year. If any employee earning less than that sum has the temerity to marry, he is dropped out of the pay roll.

It takes a heap of money to live nowadays, and whether it is better to share poverty or fight it single-handed—quicken up!

WILL EXTEND ELECTRIC LINE

COMPANY ARRANGES FOR PLACING BONDS IN A LARGE SUM.

The directors of the Oakland and San Jose Railway Company, which was recently incorporated, have arranged for the placing of bonds to the extent of $3,000,000, and as soon as the necessary preliminary steps can be taken it is claimed that the actual work of connecting this city and San Jose by means of an electric road will be commenced.

The promoters of the enterprise are closely identified with the Realty Syndicate and its kindred corporation, the Oakland and San Jose Company, which owns and operates the Oakland, San Leandro & Hayward Electric Road.

The new road will in reality be a continuation of the Hayward road. Several surveys have already been made from Hayward to San Jose, but the one which it is said is most likely to be adopted is one running for the most part through a private right of way. This plan, it is claimed, will obviate to a great extent the danger of running cars at a high speed, since along the right of way there will be no danger to passing vehicles or pedestrians.—San Jose News.

CANDIDATE SMITH.

Reports His Chances Excellent for Election to County Treasurer.

William Smith, the well-known Washington-street clothier, who is the candidate for County Treasurer on the Union Labor ticket, is making a thorough canvass of the county, and stated this morning he thought his chances of being elected very bright. If Mr. Smith should be successful, he will no doubt make a model official, for he is very popular and has all the qualifications necessary for the office he seeks.

A MASS MEETING OF ENDEAVORERS.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of central Oakland will unite for a Christian citizenship mass meeting Sunday evening, October 19, at 6 o'clock P. M. sharp, in the First M. E. Church, Fourteenth and Clay.

The General Secretary of the State Christian Endeavor Union, J. E. White, of San Francisco, will address the meeting on the subject of "Christian Citizenship, Its Peculiar Responsibilities." The State Superintendent of the Quiet Hour Department, Dr. Sara E. Wise, will give an address on the Quiet Hour. There will be special music.

STANLEY-WEST.

The marriage of Charles T. Stanley and Miss Frances M. Stewart (West) was solemnized at St. Francis de Sales Church

Priest Fine left for her home in New York, after a three months' visit here. She was escorted to the train by a host of friends laden with chrysanthemums, carnations and all sorts of beautiful flowers. General regret is expressed at Mrs. Fine's departure, which could no longer be delayed, as she is the soprano soloist in a leading New York church.

It seems too bad that we cannot keep talented people among us for any length of time. Oakland has produced any number of musicians who have made their mark, but few of them are content to make their home here.

Among the very latest to leave us is Mrs. Orrin Kip McMurray, who, however, has only crossed the bay, and taken up her residence in San Francisco. This was deemed advisable owing to the fact that Mr. McMurray has lately been appointed instructor in the Law Department of the University of California, and it was inconvenient for him to live in Oakland. However, Mrs. McMurray still sings here, and is about to give a concert at the Unitarian church. The date has not yet been decided upon, but it is to be very soon, anyway.

Ebel Society has almost succeeded in raising the five thousand dollars necessary for the completion of the children's room in the Carnegie Free Library. There is now lacking something in the neighborhood of $700, and ways and means are being considered as how best to obtain this sum.

A special meeting of the Society has been called for two o'clock on Tuesday, October 21st to act upon the advisability of taking that sum from the treasury, thus ending the matter for good and all. The Ebel ladies are averse to giving any more entertainments, holding that they are mere drops in the bucket, and the proceeds entirely out of proportion to the amount of labor involved. As usual in such cases, the bulk of the work has fallen upon the few, and right valiantly have they followed the cause.

California has at present fifteen women who are County Superintendents of Schools, and one of the political parties in San Joaquin seeks to add at least one more name to the list. They have announced Mrs. L. Clare Davis as their candidate, and are making a lively fight in her behalf.

Inyo was, I believe, the first county in California to have a woman superintendent of schools, and it is now nearly thirty years ago that the gallant miners of that section gave Miss Alice Walker that was, a rousing majority on election day.

Tuolumne county followed the good example, and shortly thereafter elected Miss Rose Morgan, now and for many years past, a prominent teacher in San Francisco, to the post of County Superintendent.

Since those days it has been an uncommon thing for women to hold that office, although they usually have a lively contest on hand after being nominated.

on Thursday morning last. After the ceremony a nuptial mass was celebrated, most beautiful music being rendered. A wedding breakfast was served afterward at the home of the bride. Only the two bridesmaids and a few intimate friends were invited.

The happy couple left at the afternoon train for the honeymoon trip, and on their return, will reside in San Francisco. Mr. Stanley having fitted up a lovely home for his bride.

TOW BOATS WILL ENTER A TRUST

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Evening Post today says: A combination of the tow boat interests in New York Harbor will probably be announced within a short time.

Negotiations have progressed to the point of a tentative agreement between six lines owning thirty-four boats and at a meeting to be held next week, it is expected that definite action will be taken looking to the merging of these lines and the organization of a new company.

ALLEGED FORGER BROUGHT BACK.

HILLMAN RETURNS FROM WASHINGTON UNDER DUAL CHARGES.

P. R. Hillman, the junior member of the former real estate firm of Davis, Bonner & Hillman, arrived this morning from Washington, under the escort of Constable Thomas O'Donnell.

Hillman was brought back to face three Grand Jury indictments, charging forgery. The specific accusations against Hillman are forging two deeds and a mortgage, and filing them with the County Recorder. He is alleged to have used the name of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Buckingham, and also that of John R. Byrrell of Grass Valley in forging the instruments.

The first thing Hillman did when he arrived at the County Jail was to call up his ex-partner, John M. Bonner, and request for an early conference.

Hillman says that he made no attempt to conceal his identity while away, but traveled under his own name. He assigns as the reason for leaving that his reputation was ruined and he wanted a chance to redeem himself in a new country.

As to the charge of forgery preferred against him by the Whatcom hotel keeper, Hillman says he simply withdrew his bank account.

ROOSEVELT WILL GO HOME TO VOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—While President Roosevelt was unable to go to Oyster Bay to register his vote for the November election he will go home to vote.

The President is progressing finely toward complete recovery and is now able to move about without crutches or even a cane, but his physicians have advised him not to travel any distance for at least two weeks.

For this reason he will be unable to attend the inauguration of President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton University, although he had expressed his particular desire to be present when President Wilson is installed.

In New York a man may register and vote on the same day.

Free—Great Novel and Play—Free

"Alice of Old Vincennes"

WHY bother about putting your name down on the waiting list at the libraries for a popular book of fiction when you can get the same novel complete in two or at the most three issues of THE SAN FRANCISCO SUNDAY CALL? Why do you go to a bookstore and pay a dollar and a half for a book that you get free in THE SAN FRANCISCO SUNDAY CALL? You must read a newspaper—THE SAN FRANCISCO SUNDAY CALL gives you all the news of the day; it gives you all the up-to-date features of any magazine; it gives you a popular novel in the bargain.

Next Sunday THE CALL publishes the first installment of "Alice of Old Vincennes," one of the strongest bits of fiction that has ever come from the pen of that popular author, Maurice Thompson. The next two installments completing the book will be published October 26 and November 2. The whole story is superbly illustrated by special photographs of Virginia Harned's great play, "Alice of Old Vincennes."

But that is not all. Here are some others by the very best writers in the world, which will follow at once: "The Gentleman from Indiana," by Booth Tarkington; "The Leopard's Spots," by Thomas Dixon Jr.; "When Knighthood Was in Flower," by Charles Major; "The Gospel of Judas Iscariot," the literary and religious sensation of two continents, by Aaron Dwight Baldwin; "Tainted Gold," by Mrs. C. M. Williamson; "The Turnpike House," by Ferguson Hume, and others to follow.

PARDEE CHEERED IN THE SOUTH.

ROUSING MEETING IS HELD IN BAKERSFIELD—REPUBLICAN LEADER IS GIVEN AN OVATION.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 18.—George C. Pardee and other candidates on the Republican ticket addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting at Bakersfield last night. Pardee reached here late this afternoon. He was met at the Kern City depot by L. E. Dault, chairman of the Kern County Central Committee, Norman Conklin, secretary of the committee, Al Lindley, Thomas Dickerson, Al Armstrong, A. C. Maude, Alexander Heyman, Solomon Jewett, James Kern, Dr. A. C. Rodgers, Rev. Dr. Foster and Captain J. F. Lacey. Pardee was driven to the Southern Hotel in this city and spent the time until dinner in getting acquainted with citizens.

The audience that gathered to hear him last night crowded Scribner's Opera House. As he walked down the aisle to the stage cheers were given and the band played "Hail to the Chief." Thomas Dickerson, who has been a Republican since the time of Fremont, was chairman of the meeting. He first introduced Captain M. J. Daniels, the Republican nominee for Congress.

"I am proud to stand on the same platform with the next Governor of California, and I would be proud to stand on this platform with the present Governor, Henry T. Gage," Daniels began.

Every reference that he and the other speakers made to Pardee was applauded. Daniels' speech was full of humor as well as sense.

"The Eighth Congressional District," he said, "is larger than Massachusetts, and has thirteen Congressmen. In it there are many industries and products, all of which need protection. Democracy, in its platform, denounces the protective tariff as unjust, and my opponent, Mr. Smythe, is supposed to represent the principles of the Democracy. I understand that Mr. Smythe has promised to frame that platform. I have noticed that the Democrats and Populists seem to enjoy the prosperity which has sprung from the Republican protective policy."

"There is not a producer in the district who wants the tariff taken off the products of California's soil. Mr. Smythe tells the people that he will not vote to take the tariff off the products of the Eighth District, but will favor the removal of protection from the products of New England. Think of Mr. Smythe, if he should be elected, approaching the thirteen Congressmen of Massachusetts with such a proposition. The New England Congressmen might say that a district which elected a Democrat did not want protection, but wanted the tariff taken off its products, and they would proceed to call the roll on him."

Daniels denied that he favored the tariff as against the oil men and stated that he and his relatives had money invested in oil lands in Bakersfield. In commenting on Smythe's promises to secure irrigation facilities for the district, Daniels said:

"Can he produce more water from the desert than any other man? Is he a Moses to smite the desert and raise a moose to smite the desert as he can. An irrigation bill has been passed by a Republican Congress and signed by a Republican President, and all that is needed is an appropriation. I do not remember when the Democratic party ever had anything in the Treasury to appropriate for irrigation or any other beneficial work. I think that a Republican Congressman can get as much as a Democrat out of a Republican Treasury." Daniels was frequently applauded.

Pardee was next introduced, and when he stood up cheers were given with a vim, and the applause was prolonged. He said that the election of the Democratic nominee would signify that the people of California were in favor of the Democratic policy instead of the Republican. He expressed his friendly feeling toward organized labor, and as he had been questioned about the pick-handle story when he arrived here he declared that there was no truth in it. He said that he did not object to a good campaign lie, but the pick-handle one was so silly that the repetition of it made him tired. He repeated the latter this time, only to cause the Democratic platform, and remarked: "I stand firmly on my party platform and do not dodge any plank in it."

He said that he would seek, as Governor, to represent all the people of California and not any particular class, and that no man or set of men would be allowed to dictate to him. He was cheered repeatedly.

Wilfred M. Peck of Riverside, an entertaining speaker, said: "I come from the Southern part of the State, our next Governor was down there we found that he was all right, and we are coming to Tehachapi on November 4th with 10,000 majority for him. I have been over the district with Captain Daniels, and this is one of the largest and finest audiences we have seen. In most of the places the people are too busy to attend political meetings. I thank Senator Smythe, who is Captain Daniels' opponent for the nomination, for doing royal work to elect him. Captain Daniels' opponent has not lived long enough in this district to vote at a general election, and he owns no property in the district. His interests are not identified with yours, while Captain Daniels has his money invested in the district. Let the message go over the wires to President Roosevelt on the night of the election that California has remained true to the Republican party."

Frank H. Short of Fresno, the last speaker, discoursed on the trust question, showing that the tariff was not responsible for the trusts. He asked the Democrats to mention any great measure in the interest of labor which the Democratic party had enacted. The Democratic party stands for destruction, he said, while the Republican party stands for creation, development and advancement. He told of the Democratic attacks on McKinley and other great Americans who are now revered, and urged all Republicans to vote for Pardee, saying:

"He is as able, honest and sincere a man as can be found, and competent to conduct the affairs of the State government as any man in the State. Why should any Republican cast a vote that will indicate in the East that the Republican party of California is wavering?" California gave McKinley a majority of 40,000, and even the Democrats are glad of it. Let us roll up as big a majority for our next Governor."

Three vigorous cheers for Pardee were given before the crowd departed.

WILLIAM R. GEARY IS OUT TO WIN

William R. Geary, who is the regular Republican nominee for Justice of the Peace of Brooklyn Township is a young man who is in every way deserving of the votes of the citizens in his district, and there is every indication these votes will be given him in sufficient number to insure his election.

Mr. Geary has every claim upon the votes of Brooklyn Township. He is an admitted attorney, and while this is not absolutely required under the law, it is most desirable that so popular a township, which includes a portion of an incorporated city, should have for Justice of the Peace one who is upon the roll of the Supreme Court of the State.

It is of interest to the voters of this section to know how Mr. Geary secured his admission to the bar of this State. It was while working as a collector for the Peace of the State for a year, he studied law. During the day he performed his duties with the company, and at night he delved into the books of the law. He felt that he was sufficiently grounded to appear before the Supreme Court. His own duties were arduous enough, but Mr. Geary determined that he would secure the privilege of putting "Attorney at Law" after his name, and the midnight oil was used in the accomplishment of this ambition. He appeared before the Supreme Court of the State for examination, and passed with the highest compliments from the justices of that court.

This is a record that any young man can point to with pride, and it is a pleasure that the friends of William R. Geary refer to what their candidate in the law.

Mr. Geary is a native of Oakland, and was educated in his public schools, and has resided in East Oakland for many years. He is married, and has a family. He has his home and family on this side of the Lake.

That Mr. Geary is fully fitted for the position to which he aspires is attested by many prominent citizens of this district. Superior Judge Henry A. Melvin, who held the office of Justice of the Peace of Brooklyn Township at the same age as Mr. Geary is one of his most earnest supporters. Supervisor H. D. Rowe is behind the young man, as are W. A. Donaldson, Dr. J. A. Plunkett, F. W. Bliger and many others of East Oakland. In Fruitvale Mr. Geary is supported by many prominent citizens.

This is the high recommendation that was given to Mr. Geary by Superior Judge Henry A. Melvin during a recent address, who has known the young candidate for Justice from boyhood:

"Some years ago I aspired for the office of Justice of the Peace of Brooklyn Township, and the voters were pleased to favor me with that office. It now happens that there is a young man running for the office on the Republican ticket who is the exact age that I was when I was elected. A young man who is working hard for his living, and who is usually devoted to rest to study law, and after a splendid examination was admitted to the bar, and I bespeak for William R. Geary your kind consideration."—Fruitvale Progress.

NO PROOF OF HER MARRIAGE

WIFE SAYS HER HUSBAND DESTROYED MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE.

Mrs. Anne Van Nostrand, whose maiden name was Anne Van McCloskey, has been the wife of Daniel Constock Van Nostrand since April, 1891. To-day she discovered that there was no record of her marriage in the books of the Recorder, notwithstanding, as she alleges, the marriage ceremony was performed in the month specified by Rev. Michael King, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception of this city.

The parish records, however, bear witness to the fact of the marriage. When Mrs. Van Nostrand discovered that there had been no civil record made of the marital ceremony she charged her husband with having destroyed the marriage license and certificate instead of recording them. Deputy Clerk Browning this afternoon issued a certified copy of the marriage license issued to the couple on April 18, 1891, by the County Clerk, through Robert Edgar, his deputy.

VIEWS OF THE CITY ARE APPRECIATED

The local Board of Trade is in receipt of the following letter which is self explanatory. The management of the Polytechnic Business College have used a great many of the panoramic views of Oakland and express themselves as very much pleased with the results attained from sending them to prospective students.

"Oakland, Cal., October 16, 1903.
"Mr. Edwin Stearns, Secretary Oakland Board of Trade, Oakland, Cal.: Dear Sir—Enclosed herewith please find our check for $25.00, for which please send us one thousand copies of your present booklet, entitled, 'Oakland, California.'"

"We consider this an excellent thing to place in the hands of our prospective students from out of town. Our students come from all parts of the Pacific Coast, and many of them do not realize that Oakland is fast becoming a great commercial, as well as an educational center. Very respectfully yours,
"POLYTECHNIC BUSINESS COLLEGE.
"(Signed) W. E. GIBSON, Manager."

WIDOW SMASHER FOUND GUILTY.

The preliminary examination of Eugene B. Johnson, a Mexican charged with the burglary of the show window of the Pierce Hardware Company on Broadway, was held in the Police Court before Judge Smith. At the conclusion of the testimony the defendant was found guilty and committed to the care of the Sheriff with bail fixed at $2,000.

The offense of which the accused was convicted was committed last June. The testimony of Detective Denny Holland, to whom Johnson made a confession when arrested, showed that about midnight of the month mentioned, the defendant took a rock in his handkerchief and with the missile smashed the store window and made away with two pistols belonging to the firm. One of these he afterwards disposed of to a railroad detective. Johnson also confessed to having smashed two other display windows in the business portion of the town, but he will not be prosecuted for those offenses.

MORRISON DIVORCE CASE SET FOR TRIAL.

The celebrated divorce case of Mrs. Catherine A. Morrison from her husband, A. J. Morrison, formerly clerk of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, which has been going through preliminary motions in the Superior Court since the early part of the present year, has been, at length, set for trial. Judge Ogden will hear the testimony beginning Monday next, Oct. 20. An order to this effect was made this morning by Judge Ogden. Mr. H. P. McGill, who associated with counsel for the defendant.

DR. EVERMAN'S RETURN.

Dr. Barton N. Everman and family of Washington, D. C. left for their home last Saturday night after spending several months with Dr. Jordan at Stanford University. They stopped in Oakland to visit the family of J. M. Wallace at 114 Myrtle street who are old Indiana friends. Dr. Everman is writing up the fish of the Pacific waters.

JUST COMMON SENSE.
Changed the Whole Thing.

"I used coffee all my life until two years ago, when I was forced to discontinue it," writes a lady from Memphis, Tenn. "My health became so wretched that life was almost a burden."

"I suffered almost continuously with nervous headache, dyspepsia and excruciating pains in my back. My heart action was very feeble, and I suffered intensely from a feeling of suffocation or oppression. Was extremely emaciated and debilitated, and so nervous that the slightest exertion or excitement would produce very distressing symptoms. My physician pronounced my trouble nervous prostration, and could give very slight relief."

"A friend urged me to stop drinking coffee and try Postum Food Coffee and the result. My first trial was not satisfactory, owing to the indifference of the cook, but the next time, she followed directions carefully, and I found it decidedly good. After using it about two months, I awoke to the fact that my bad system had almost totally disappeared, and that my health was better than it had been for six years. I had no headache; my heart troubled me only at rare intervals; could eat with perfect impunity; gained flesh, and was generally much stronger than formerly."

"I had discontinued medical treatment when I began to use Postum, and common sense supports me in the conviction that Postum alone was the curative agent in my case. My children are quite fond of it, and I take comfort in the thought that in Postum they obtain both food and drink and run no risk of injury to their digestive organs. No one has healthier children than I, and that alone is sufficient to prove its value." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

GOOD WORK OF J. H. METCALF.

SACRAMENTO RECORD UNION SAYS HE IS THE MAN FOR THE PLACE.

(Sacramento Record Union, Oct. 10.) Pursuing the sound policy of recommending for Congress men who have served in that body, and retaining them in the House as means of commanding more Federal attention to local needs and rights, the Republican party has nominated Victor H. Metcalf for Congress in the Third District. Mr. Metcalf was first elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress, and was re-elected to the Fifty-seventh, receiving over his Democratic opponent nearly 8000 majority. This represents the regard in which he is held by an intelligent constituency. That it returned him by such a flattering vote testifies to the satisfaction his people feel over his course in Congress. He will go to the next Congress still better equipped to be of effective service to his district and to the State.

But Mr. Metcalf's fealty extends beyond district bounds. He takes as broad and deep concern in the interests of all parts of the State, and devotes himself industriously in the House to forwarding worthy measures relating to the well-being of California. Mr. Metcalf's election is undoubtedly in Alameda, Solano and Contra Costa counties, which compose the Third District under the new apportionment. He is a man of fine presence, a sound lawyer, a clear thinker, slow to judgment, but accurate, does not essay brilliancy, but proceeds in all he does with directness, thoroughness and precision. He has had much business experience, and is a student who gives in every matter presented for his consideration the work of a mind trained in analysis. He is a man of high character, and charged with a deep sense of responsibility to conscience.

Mr. Metcalf is a resident of Oakland, coming there from Utica, New York, 1879. He is a graduate of the Utica Free Academy, Russell's Military Academy, Connecticut, and of Yale Law School, and studied law with Francis Kernan and in the offices of Horatio and John F. Seymour, and practiced law in Connecticut and in Utica, and in Oakland and the State generally since coming to California twenty-three years.

ENDEAVORERS IN ACTIVE WORK.

PAY A VISIT TO WARM SPRINGS AND PLAN FUTURE MEETINGS.

Recently a party of Endeavorers went to Warm Springs. It consisted of J. E. White, State Secretary, Dr. Sara E. White, State Superintendent of Quiet Hour, W. M. Bird, President of the Alameda County Union, Miss M. M. Harford, Superintendent Quiet Hour, and H. E. Keifer, Vice President Alameda County Union.

After attending the regular morning preaching service, an excellent basket lunch was served, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

At 2:30 o'clock the Christian Endeavor rally was opened with a splendid praise service led by Vice President Keifer. This was followed by a devotional service in charge of Miss Harford. Twelve minute addresses on "The Quiet Hour" and "The Christian Endeavorers' Place in Church Work" by Dr. White and Mr. White, respectively, were listened to with great profit to all.

Special music was rendered by the local choir, after a short address by Mr. Bird, the meeting adjourned, and every one feeling that great good had been accomplished.

The Endeavorers at Warm Springs are royal entertainers, and the officers of the Alameda County Union will show their appreciation of the fact by doing everything in their power to assist the members of the Alameda Union in the work which they have undertaken.

Pilgrim Congregational Endeavorers are planning a unique Halloween social which will be given in the church parlors. Plenty of pumpkins will be used for decorating, besides greens and flowers. The proceeds of the party will be for the benefit of the needy.

The Endeavorers are looking forward to their next social, which will be held at the First Presbyterian church on Monday evening, Oct. 20. The social will be a "Harvest Social." Each one will be expected to bring some kind of food to the social. The proceeds of the social will be for the benefit of the needy.

An encouraging report of progress comes from the English Lutheran Christian Endeavor Society, which is in a prosperous condition. Twelve new members have been received during the past year. The society is planning a social meeting and social of the society for this coming week. The social will be held at the English Lutheran church, and the proceeds will be for the benefit of the needy.

The time for the next Alameda County Union social is set for Monday evening, November 15th is the date, the Fourth Congregational Church at Third and Grand streets. The social will be a "Harvest Social." Each one will be expected to bring some kind of food to the social. The proceeds of the social will be for the benefit of the needy.

Asthma Can Be Cured

The statement of Mr. J. F. Homan, 20 E. Adams St., Chicago, proves that the worst cases of Asthma in the world are not only relieved, but are readily cured by Dr. Schiffmann's Asthma Cure. He says: "Asthma kept me in terrible misery for ten years until I used your Asthma Cure. After the first trial I was a changed man. I went to sleep that night and awoke next day much relieved and I have gotten entirely over the Asthma. It is now nine years since I was cured."

Sold by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. Send 2c stamp to Dr. R. Schiffmann, Box 864 St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package.

LITERARY NOTES OF THE WEEK.

"THE LOOM OF LIFE" JUST FROM THE PRESS IS WORTH READING.

"The Loom of Life" is a story by Charles Frederick Goss which will be read with absorbing interest by all into whose hands it may come. It is written by a man who evidently has a knowledge of the world as also of human nature, because its scenes are drawn with remarkable accuracy as to detail and the climax in each is worked up with thrilling effect. These scenes comprehend club life, business rivalry, love, intrigue, hate, wrong-doing, passionate destruction of property and life with a jealous tragedy, all terminating in a manly and womanly penitence and reformation on the part of the leading personage, who opens her heart and her home to moral outcasts who, once more, seek to return to the life from where their waywardness dragged them.

Each character is entertainingly delineated and the book, as a consequence, is one of the most entertaining of the season. The dominating sentiment is that expressed by Henry Ward Beecher: "We seldom see a man of life who never stops and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up tomorrow." The book is published by the Bowen-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.

HEALTH CULTURE.
"Health Culture" is devoted to Practical Hygiene. It is full of articles bearing on this subject which may be read with interest by men and women. It is published at 481 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

LITERARY DIGEST.
The Literary Digest for the coming week is replete with topics of the day, letters and art and science and invention. It is published by Funk & Wagnalls, 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

ECONOMIST.
The American Economist is devoted to the protection of American Labor and industries, and is ably conducted. It is published in New York City.

NEW CENTURY.
"The New Century" is a very readable weekly, published at Point Loma, San Diego. Its motto being truth and light for discouraged humanity.

LOST WEDDING RING.
"The Lost Wedding Ring" is the title of a book by Rev. Cordell Myers, D. D. It contains nine helpful talks, discussing the entire subject of marriage. It aims to show husbands, wives and sweethearts the way to lasting happiness in married life. It is published by Funk & Wagnalls Company of New York City, and retails for 15 cents.

BOOK BUYER.
"The Book-Buyer" for October is a record of current literature which is especially rich. It contains a number of illustrations. The leading feature is an article on "Richard Henry Davis, His Home and Method of Work." It is published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York.

DAZZLER'S CRUISE.
"The Cruise of the Dazzler" is one of the new St. Nicholas series of books for young folks. Issued in uniform and attractive binding, with a cover suggestive of St. Nicholas magazine, in which all the books of the series have first appeared. It is written by Jack London, of this city. Mr. London's story, "The Cruise of the Dazzler," gives a vivid and exciting view of the modern pirate who lives by robbery along the Pacific Coast—petty criminals, but men who are at times dangerous. It is a true sea story, its hero a boy who runs away as many every one and who wishes he did not, as all do. He finds, however, a good friend, and makes the fault a means of rescue.

It is published by the Century Company, New York City.

PRACTICAL TEXT BOOKS.
D. C. Heath & Co., the well known publishers of Boston, Mass., have issued a number of practical text books which will be of wonderful utility in the classroom, as also at home, for private reference and study. The books have been gotten out in a very attractive manner so far as appearance goes and have been written by men who are skilled in the subjects which have been discussed. One of these works is "Elements of Agriculture," by E. A. Sever, which treats of the house, garden, store, dairy, the soil, field products and other practical matters. The book is finely illustrated. Another book is entitled, "Arithmetic Without a Pencil." This is written by E. M. Joy. It is a clear exposition of the science of numbers, lucidly expounded and made so attractive as to induce the reader to master it as a mental exercise. The book is a model of its kind. Still another of these books is "The Beginner's Algebra," which is the joint work of Charles Gerish and Webster Wells. It has been prepared with the utmost care and is calculated to induce young students to take an interest in this useful study. Scott's "Lady of the Lake" is another work which, while old, is ever new. It will be of special interest because it has been edited by Dr. Ernest S. Stevens, who is a professor of English literature in the University of California. It has a very fine introductory and a number of descriptive and appreciative notes. All these books retail at very reasonable prices.

HAZEL PIERCE.
"Hazel Pierce" is a romance which contains a number of scenes and incidents of peculiar interest to people who reside on the Pacific Coast. It is a tale of absorbing interest, the heroine of which is a most charming character. She has been separated from the man she loved through the malevolence of her father and refuses to bestow her heart upon any other suitor. She submits to the deprivation and finally passes away to a world of happiness of which is described as being reflected on her countenance at the moment of dissolution.

The book is published by A. H. Hargrave & Co., New York City.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
"Harper's Weekly" has a colored plate this week showing the new uniforms just adopted by the United States Army together with a number of readable articles on a variety of subjects. It is published in New York City.

OUT WEST.
"Out West" is a magazine of the old and new Pacific Coast. It is in every way a creditable publication. The articles are based upon subjects and points of interest in this State at the present time and in the early day, and all of them are finely illustrated. It is published at Los Angeles, Cal.

CONCERT-GOER.
"The Concert-Goer" is full of musical news and sketches of musicians, together with notes which will be of interest to lovers of music. It is published at New York City.

MFDDLER SAYS PLEASANT THINGS ABOUT MEMBERS OF SMART SET

Members of Oakland Society Are Enjoying an Exceedingly Lively Fall Season—Receptions and Card Parties—Personal and Social Notes

COMING BRIDES ARE ENTERTAINED.

While we haven't exactly been falling over each other in a wild rush to get to teas and other affairs this week, still there have been such things going on, for which let us be duly thankful.

In the first place, there have been two or three informal little things for the two brides-elect, Rachel Vrooman and Ethel Kittredge, whose engagement to Edmund Baker I told you about last summer, if you remember. Her closest friend, Mamie Barker, entertained for her on Wednesday, just an informal tea with all that set, and every one was very glad to see Ethel and congratulate her, because she so seldom comes over to this side nowadays. The Kittredges have taken a house on California street for the winter, having had all they care for of hotel life.

Then, on Tuesday, Rachel Vrooman was the honored guest at Mrs. Fred Allard's luncheon for the Vrooman-Colby bridal party, the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Euchre Club coming in later to play cards, and that evening Georgia Strong gave something for Rachel, the guests enjoying cards, I believe.

WHIST CLUBS SPRING INTO SOCIAL ACTIVITY.

Speaking of cards reminds me that the different clubs have come out in full force this week, some of those having met, being the Wheelock Whist Club, entertained by Mrs. Prentiss Selby on Wednesday, when Mrs. E. J. Cotton also entertained the Cup and Sauter Club. Mrs. George Borneman winning the cup. Mrs. Frank Brigham had the Monday Afternoon Whist Club at her house on Monday. Mrs. Egbert Stone, Mrs. Horry Meek, Mrs. J. R. Burnham, Mrs. Kales, Mrs. James G. Allen, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. Andrew Moseley, Mrs. J. L. Howard, Mrs. Arthur Crellin, Mrs. Frederick Hathaway, Mrs. Hayward Thomas, Mrs. J. W. Tompkins, Mrs. Charles Sutton, Mrs. Lillian Brown Everett, Mrs. Charles Houghton, Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Miss Hattie Hall, the Misses Bertha and Minnie Wilcox, Mrs. Lucie May Hayes, Mrs. Henry Dieckman, Jr., Mrs. Ernest Folger and Mrs. Rob Knight, who, by the way, is thinking of renting her artistic little home and living at Bakersfield, where Mr. Knight is very much interested in some business affairs, were all present. Every one is hoping that Mrs. Knight may not leave Oakland, but Mr. Knight can only get away for a day or two at the end of the week, and she, of course, feels that she ought to be with him and establish a home down there.

I don't know of any one who would be missed as will Mrs. Knight, if she goes. She is simply the life of every affair, great or small, and has more genuine friends than any of the other young matrons, barring Mrs. Harry Hinckley, in town. Mrs. Hinckley, by the way, couldn't find time to get over to the meeting and they will probably have to do without her this winter, for she is a very busy woman, and the big house of Mrs. Harry Williams, which she has leased for the next three years, is rapidly filling. Mrs. Hinckley's people, the George Graysons and Williams Ralstons are with her; Mrs. Hayes and Florence Hayes, who have lived at the Occidental for so long; Mrs. Harry Williams and Philip Williams, who has just returned from a sea voyage, and several others are living with her, and we all hope her venture will be a great big success. The dining-room in the Williams home is, by the way, one of the handsomest and most artistic apartments I've ever seen in my life. It reminds one of the rooms sometimes staged in Henry Miller's plays, with the dark-beamed ceilings, the high fireplace, the beautiful stained-glass windows, the big side-board built in the wall; the tall, high-backed narrow chairs, and the pretty conservatory opening out at the back, only it is much larger than a room could be on the stage, of course. Some one told me that Mrs. Hinckley has small tables for two or four about the room, decorated with pretty candelabra, and the whole thing must look very charming indeed.

STORIES ABOUT MELBA AND EMMA EAMES.

The Saunterer had a very interesting article about Melba and Emma Eames, in Town Talk a week or so ago. He said: "Could anything be more Magdalen-like than the calamity that befell Melba's father when the two met in Melbourne the other day? Mr. Mitchell, the dispatches say, burst a blood vessel in his obstinate head when he greeted his famous daughter. He did not sanction her adoption of a public career. From an intimate friend of the Mitchell family, I learned that he used to say he wouldn't have her giving 'shilling entertainments' when he was willing and able to support her in luxury, but she did, just the same. For a long time after her European triumphs, he refused to listen about them, but, at last, he relented somewhat, when people told him the whole world called her the song queen. Then tales reached his ears about her love affair with the Duc d'Orleans, and he stormed, raged and refused to write to her or to have her sisters speak of her in his presence. When people continued to congratulate him on the diva's greatness, he would say sternly, 'she would be better at home with me.' But time softened his anger and perhaps convinced him that the reports of her love affair were exaggerated, if not untrue. One can fancy his conflicting emotions when they met in Melbourne the other day. To him, no doubt, she was not the greatest singer in the world to whom kings, queens and great musicians listen in ecstasy, but just his own child who had come home again after long wanderings afar. It is delightful to read of the demonstrations over her arrival, by the Australians who, in their own country, are the most gentle and hospitable people in the world. The dispatches tell us that they placed the railroads at her disposal as if she were a visiting potentate, and she is to be the personal guest of the governor of each colony she visits. That means there almost what it would mean in the United States to be a guest at the White House. For, though the Australians are a most democratic people, their governors live in splendor and are looked upon as very high and mighty individuals. It was the greatest honor they could bestow upon their distinguished countrywoman and they were proud to welcome her so."

The Saunterer goes on to say that a young woman of his acquaintance, a pupil of the great Marchesi, writes of an interesting visit to Emma Eames as follows:

"Madame Marchesi gave me a letter of introduction to Madame Eames Story, and, hearing that she had come up from Trouville I lost no time in presenting it. The Storys have a charming residence at 7 Etats Nuis, one of the most homelike places in Paris."

"Mrs. Story was graciousness itself and was beautifully dressed in a frock of mousseline de soie, something of a Grecian cut. There were two other visitors besides myself, Mancinelli the great conductor, who smiled indulgently at Madame Eames, referring to her as 'my prima donna.' She created the role of Hero in his opera of 'Hero and Leander.' The other guest was a Miss Parkinson, a graduate of Marchesi's school, who hails from Kansas City. She is a very pretty girl, unaffected, and with a voice of the same quality as Melba's. She sang 'Aveux Mignonne' and we were all in tears when she finished. For an encore, she sang an aria from Cella's 'Louise.' Madame Eames then sang the beautiful 'Shell Song' from 'Hero et Leander.' Mancinelli accompanying her. Madame Eames asked me to sing, but as I explained that Marchesi had forbidden it, she did not insist. Both Madame Story and Mancinelli were enthusiastic over California and Californians. Madame Eames said she was trying to make arrangements to sing in concert in California in the spring of '03. She spoke of the night she sang 'Aida' in San Francisco while suffering with a cold, when she broke on the high note of the 'Patria Mia' as one of the greatest disappointments of her career. 'If any one had hissed, it would have killed me,' she said, 'and I shall always be grateful for their kind indulgence. I think your San Francisco women are the prettiest in the world,' and I think she must have been sincere for there were several gentle photographs in evidence."

ADA BATES CLOSES CARD PARTY SERIES.

Ada Bates gave the second of her series of card parties yesterday, and I believe she doesn't intend to give any others, at least, just now. Everything was as jolly and as informal as at the first one. The ones I thought looked particularly well were Eva and Harriet Knight, who are always fresh and well groomed upon all occasions; Mrs. E. J. Cotton, Augusta Breck, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Mrs. Fred Allard and Lottie Allard, Mrs. Lee Burnham, Mrs. Francis Allen, Mrs. James G. Allen, Mrs. Carol Galvin, and her sister, Grace Bartlett; Mary Wilson, Mrs. Henry Dieckmann, Jr., Mrs. Rob Knight, Kate Chabot, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Emmet Nicholson, Mrs. Martin Blote, Mrs. Frederick Knight, Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Mrs. George Rudolph, Mrs. Charles Rudolph, Mrs. A. F. Merriman, Eva York, Mrs. Churchill Taylor, Mrs. Irving Lewis, Mabel and Elizabeth Gray, Ethel Moore, Mrs. William Arnold, George Strong, Mrs. Edward H. Campbell, Rachel Vrooman, Mrs. Wil-

Ham F. Kelly, Mrs. A. S. Larkey, and Miss Stebbins, who is, I believe, visiting Mabel and Elizabeth Gray.

SOCIAL SET AT THE WHIRL-I-GIG.

Lots of us are going over to the benefit performance of the burlesque "Whirl-I-Gig" on Wednesday, for the building fund of the California Eye and Ear Hospital. Manager Friedlander has placed Fischer's Theatre at the disposal of the lady managers of the hospital, and some special features are to be introduced in the performance. The young girls of the Heartsease Auxiliary are to dispose of the programs, and the whole thing promises to be a great success.

PLAY CARDS FOR DEAR FABIOLA.

But we on this side are interested more in the coming Fabiola card tournament, for the benefit of our pet hospital, and, if hard work, prominent patronesses and pretty girls to score, go for anything, the money ought to fairly roll in.

Mrs. Frank Weston is Chairman for the General Committee, and, as you know, Mrs. Ellen Folger, Mrs. Isaac L. Requa, Mrs. John Yule, Mrs. Remi Chabot, Mrs. W. W. Standford, Mrs. Pedar Sather, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Q. A. Chase, Mrs. A. D. Wilson, Mrs. T. P. Chapman, Mrs. S. T. Alexander, Mrs. Henry Butters, who, by the way, won't be here; Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. E. B. Sanborn, Mrs. E. C. Farnham, Mrs. Prentiss Selby, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. Wallace Everson, Mrs. Paul Lohse, Mrs. Gordon M. Stolp, Mrs. E. A. Whitaker, Mrs. Willard Barton, Mrs. C. W. Ames, Jr., Mrs. Edward Remillard, Mrs. J. P. McCabe, Mrs. J. S. Scotchler, Mrs. E. A. Heron, Mrs. S. M. Gilman, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. William J. Landers, Mrs. Hugo Abrahamson, Mrs. George McNear and Mrs. J. M. Driscoll are to be the patronesses. The complete list of those who are to score isn't in yet, but some of them are Mrs. Oscar Gowing, Mona Crellin, Edith Kelly, Gertrude Allen, Miss Estelle Kleeman, Emma Mahony, Fanny Perkins, Miss Florence Ziegenpress, Miss Mary Hogan, Miss Grace Burrell, Pauline and Ione Fore, Blanche Tisdale, Mrs. Charles Gilman, Loretta and Katherine Kirk, Miss Florence O'Neil, Cordie Bishop, Lillian Remillard, Ernestine and Eleanor Moller, Alice Conklin, Miss Florence French, Miss Madge Cunningham, Miss Kurtz and Miss Eda Kurtz, Miss Lydia Pratt, Addie and Carrie Gorrell, Alma and Ada Brown, Miss Eva Lemoureux, Carman Sutton, Violet and Beatrice Fife, Charlotte Elsey, Hazel Hogan, Virginia Tyrrel and Ethel Haas.

FIFTEEN BRIDESMAIDS TO GRACE NUPTIALS.

Kate Stow of Santa Barbara, who is so well known here and across the bay, who is to be married soon to Charles Eland, is to have fifteen bridesmaids. Think of it, and one of them will, of course, be Carrie Haven of this city, who, so often, visits Miss Stow, and has entertained her here. The bride-elect is just now visiting the Elands in Mexico, where the family of the groom-to-be have large cattle interests, and that place is to be their future home. The wedding is to take place Christmas week, and the Stows are planning things on a very elaborate scale. If the weather permits, the ceremony will be performed out under the palms at La Patera, their lovely home. Margaret Stow will probably be maid of honor, but Sallie Taylor and Miss Dibble, whose engagement to Fred Poett was recently announced, are the only bridesmaids I know of as yet.

VISITING FIANCEE, A MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER.

Speaking of affairs in Santa Barbara, reminds me that Charlie Fernald, that place, who is also well known to us up here, is visiting Miss Bessie Swift, a daughter of the Louis F. Swifts, the millionaire pork-packing people of Chicago, to whom he is engaged, at the Swifts' summer home at Lake Forest.

"WHISTLE AND I'LL COME TO"—CHURCH.

Solo whistling as a feature of church services, has been introduced in New York, and has been approved by the congregations so that it will probably be more generally adopted.

The first thing of the kind took place in the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church, a Miss Louise Truax whistling "Traumerel," "The Mocking Bird," and Mendelssohn's "Flower Song," and the announcement of the event overtaxed the seating capacity of the church. It wouldn't be a hard way to fill up some empty pews I know of here, although I have always believed the old saying that "whistling girls and crowing hens always come to some bad end," but perhaps if I could whistle myself I wouldn't take so much stock in it. Claribel Munsell Colby is the only one I know of who could do it with any success here. She whistles beautifully, and, before her marriage, several times whistled for charity affairs. I especially remember how people praised her novel accomplishment at the charity tea given at Mrs. James G. Allen's house, for St. Paul's Church, about two years ago.

HEARTS PLAYED 'NEATH LEAVES OF AUTUMN.

Laura Fenton entertains about thirty matrons and girls at "Hearts" this afternoon, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Hugh Cross of Sisson. Bright-hued autumn leaves and chrysanthemums were used in decorating and, I hear, the score cards, red and yellow affairs, were especially pretty, with Chinese figures on them.

GIRLS ARE BUYING STUNNING PURSES.

What lovely Chinese purses of brocade silks and sliver, some of the girls are buying over in Chinatown just now for three and a half dollars! Think of it, when some of the dry goods stores on Broadway are asking twelve and fifteen dollars for the very same thing. They are stunning, and just the shape of the French purses we have all been swinging in our hands for some months now.

INFORMAL AT HOME AT MRS. SARAH DOW'S.

Mrs. Sarah Dow's informal At Home on Thursday, at which she entertained her old friends, was very pleasant, indeed. The reception took place at the new home of Mrs. Dow's daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Yorker, and the rooms were decorated with white flowers and greens. The dining room, where small tables were scattered about was especially pretty, pink cosmos and greens being used, while, from the center of the ceiling to the corners of the room were stretched garlands of smilax. Some of the guests were Mrs. E. B. Bond and her sister, Nora McNeil, of San Francisco, Mrs. Charles Holt, Mrs. Gordon M. Stolp, Mrs. William Priddy of Haywards, Mrs. Ilo Alken of Decoto, Mrs. John P. Ames, Mrs. Murray Johnson, Mrs. Charlotte Playter, Mrs. Charles Burkhalter, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. D. H. Cunningham, the Rev. and Mrs. Dille, Mrs. Susan Chapman, Mrs. J. S. Scupham, Mrs. Charles W. Kinsey, Mrs. Florence Wells, Mrs. D. E. Bortee, Mrs. Heaton and Mrs. F. R. Girard.

PRIVATE EXHIBIT OF MISS HYDE'S TROUSSEAU.

They say that Mabel Hyde's trousseau is simply beautiful, all of the underclothes having been richly embroidered, hemstitched and made elaborate with an amount of delicate handwork, every stitch of them having been done by needle women of the Old World. The bride's aunt, Mrs. David Bixler, from whose house across the bay, she is to be married to Edwin Gillette on Monday, the twenty-seventh, brought them all from Europe. Mabel had a private exhibition of them on Saturday last, a number of her friends dropping in to have a long look at them.

THE ELDER MAGEE DISCHARGED SON WALTER.

I was amused to read in one of the San Francisco weeklies of last Saturday, a story to the effect that the Magee boys were all extremely bitter towards their father for marrying a second time, and that Walter Magee, especially, carried his anger to the point of not speaking to his father, and resigning from the firm! The truth of the matter is that while the Magee boys were probably not more pleased than others would have been under the same circumstances, there was never any bitterness, and when Fred Magee was, after his father's marriage, wedded to Belle Moon and Walter Magee married Miss Dean, both sons received wedding presents from their father and step-mother. Walter Magee, who is a good-hearted, jolly fellow without a thought for business, did not resign from the firm, but was told by his father to leave the firm, all but about one hour of his days being passed at a certain place across from the firm's offices.

After losing his position with his father, his wife's people sent him to Nevada, where he is now bookkeeper in a mine owned by his wife's step-father.

LOVE AND MARS MUST LEAVE THE PRESIDIO.

It seems a shame that Lieutenant and Mrs. Lowenberg nee Dunham, should have to be moved so soon, just when they are all settled in their honeysuckle-covered cottage at the Presidio. They do not know whether they will be sent to Monterey or into camp, or whether they will rent a house outside the Presidio for the winter, but leave they must.

OAKLAND CLUB LUNCHEON.

Wednesday the Oakland Club gave a breakfast, the proceeds to go toward furnishing its rooms on Seventeenth street.

Mrs. Wakeman Curtiss, Mrs. Florence Hardiman Miller, Miss Sarah Horton, Mrs. E. B. Sanborn and Mrs. David Spencer responded to toasts, and the breakfast was followed by a short program.

GIBSON WOMEN MADE MONEY FOR STUDENTS.

The Associated Women Students at the University report that they cleared over $50 at the recent Gibson tableaux entertainment.

TO TAKE A PARTY TO INVERNESS.

Helen Shafter, who has been spending the summer at the family country home near Inverness, returned home a few days ago, and is planning to take a big house party of young people up to Inverness in about a week. I don't know who they are all to be but Helen Wright and a Mr. Partridge are to be two of them.

MRS. C. L. BENT PLANNING A PARTY.

Mrs. Charles Lyman Bent and her sister, Mrs. Lansing, are planning to give a big reception at Century Hall, across the bay, early this season.

COMINGS AND GOINGS OF THE SMART SET.

Mrs. Kate Bulkley is in Pasadena, visiting Miss Meeker and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette. Josephine Hyde arrived from the Orient on Tuesday morning, having been studying Japanese art for the past three years. Mrs. H. K. Bellden is entertaining her future daughter-in-law, pretty Charlotte Laws.

Mrs. Walter Henry has just returned from the country and now her sister, Anita Whitney, has gone to spend the next three weeks in Mendocino County. Belle Nicholson is visiting relatives in St. Louis. The Beach Soules will shortly give up their house on Vernon Heights and leave for Arizona, where Beach has mining interests. Florence Selby, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Bullitt, in Kentucky, has now entered the Pratt School of Art in Brooklyn, New York. President Wheeler left for a six-weeks' trip to the East on Tuesday, and will spend some time with Dr. Jacques Doet of the University of Chicago, probably making an effort to secure his services for our University. The E. G. Lukens also leave for an Eastern trip soon, going on Monday for a two-months' stay.

Mrs. A. J. Ralston of Berkeley has been attending the wedding of her son Louis at Yonkers, New York; the Herbert Moffitts and Miss Joliffe are also in New York, having arrived from Germany, where Dr. Moffitt has been taking a special course for the past five or six months. The Misses Bonnie and Bessie Reeves, the pretty Southern twins whom Mrs. McElrath entertained at tea recently, leave the Presidio on Monday for the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Mrs. Rawles, whom they have been visiting, and Bessie Rawles, who gave a farewell luncheon for them the other day, will accompany them for a short stay, expecting to be back at the Presidio on Saturday next.

MAGNIFICENT ENGAGEMENT GIFTS.

The handsomest engagement presents I've ever seen have been given to Miss Schwabacher, mostly by her relatives—that are-to-be, the relations of the wealthy and fortunate Mr. Roos, who is to be Miss Schwabacher's husband. The lady in the case is a pretty girl, the sister of the man who has always been known as the Ned Greenway of Hebrew circles—the dapper leader of cotillions, Mr. Schwabacher always reminds me of Edna Wallace Hopper—he is so perfect in detail of clothes, so dainty as to hands and feet.

Among other things which have been given to Miss Schwabacher, besides the engagement ring, which is a perfectly huge solitaire, is a solid gold shopping bag, set with eighteen diamonds, a gold chain two yards long, with a diamond set at every inch along the chain, which, of course, means seventy-two diamonds—or a hundred and one altogether. Quite an addition to one's jewel casket in a single week.

PEARL LANDERS BREAKS HER ENGAGEMENT.

It runs in the Landers family to break engagements and the cousins, though alike in little, have evidently the courage of their convictions. Berenice Landers broke an engagement or two, and very wisely, for certainly that kind of a bad promise is far better broken than kept—for both parties. But the Landers and Scotts have always been close friends and the estrangement may make it a little awkward—San Francisco is so small. Miss Landers was obliged to return her really lovely ring—a pearl with a diamond at either side—that must have been heart-breaking. What becomes of the returned engagement rings—I always wonder. They are such useless things. They can never be made over for a new love, I shouldn't think—except by a very cold-blooded young man.

Some people are blaming Miss

Landers, presuming that she broke the affair off, and there comes the question—how far is one the keeper of his or her own heart? Cain's question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" may fittingly be asked of the human heart. Can it be compelled to love the same person in the same way always? I have never known a case yet where a man or woman agreed to stay together so long as they both loved that one or the other was not broken hearted and angry, too, when the other party to the compact took advantage of the loophole. Edith Wharton attempted to solve the problem lately in a short story in Harper's, "The Reckoning," but she only succeeded in showing that the human heart cannot be bound—it is constant only in its inconstancy.

CONCERTS ACROSS THE BAY.

Several musical events across the bay have taken us to San Francisco this week. On Tuesday evening, Edward Xavier Rolker gave an hour of song at Sternway Hall, 223 Sutter street, as Sherman & Clay Hall is now called. It was an invitational affair and was for the purpose of introducing three promising young pupils, Miss Bessie Rosenbaum, Miss Hedwig Pohlmann and Miss Gertrude Wheeler. All have fresh, lovely voices, and Miss Wheeler, especially, has a fresh, lovely face. She formerly lived in Oakland and is a sister of Charles S. Wheeler and William R. Wheeler. For some time she has been the solo soprano at Trinity Church, San Francisco, though she is a very young woman. The concert was a great success.

THE STUARTS RETURN.

Mr. Stuart and his daughter, Frances, now grown into a stunning girl, have returned to the coast but merely for a visit, I hear. Miss Stuart, who left here a little girl with beautiful grey eyes, has been completely metamorphosed. She will have shoals of men at her feet. The Stuarts were recently the guests of the Cools at Los Gatos.

A STUDIO AFTERNOON.

Last Saturday Amadee Joulfin gave an informal afternoon at his studio. His guests were Dr. and Mrs. Russell Cool, Mrs. Charles Sawyer, Judge Harry Melvin and Charles Dickman.

BOHEMIA'S RIVAL.

The Family, the new club which is in a way, the rival of the Bohemian, and yet contains many members of the older and more famous club, held a unique celebration last Saturday night. It was a fable night and everyone was expected to relate an original fable. The best three "moral" were engraved on a big silver loving cup which belongs to the club. The fun was fast and furious and the evening was like that one in "The Young May Moon."

"And the best of all ways to lengthen our days Is to steal a few hours from the night, my dear."

Well, they stole a few hours from the night—almost all there were. I don't think anybody made a last boat.

MRS. HAYES' DINNER.

"The guests at Mrs. Lucie May Hayes' dinner in honor of Miss Craft and Mr. Deering were Miss Viola Piercy, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. May, Mr. Richard Hotaling and Mr. Charles Field. The table decorations were beautiful pink carnations and broad pink ribbons. The chairs of the guests of honor were looped together with painted arrows and hearts. The ices and sweets were all in heart forms. After dinner the guests spent an hour in the bungalow, which was surrounded with Japanese lanterns.

LAYMANCES IN MOURNING.

The beautiful Layman home in East Oakland has been plunged into mourning through the death of Mrs. M. J. Layman's brother. The Laymances are very charming people. They had planned to do considerable entertaining in their handsome new Fifth avenue home this winter.

BIG LUNCHEON AT THE EBELL.

The regular monthly luncheon at the Ebelle called forth a very large turnout, in spite of the fact that it had poured the day before. Every place at the tables was occupied. There were many guests, some of them from distant cities. At the right of the president, Miss Mabel Gray, sat Miss Mabel Craft, who afterward read a paper. Mrs. Carrie Fross Snyder was also at the table of honor and contributed two delightful recitations to the program. Miss Clark played and Miss Wilhelmnia Koenig sang three songs. She has a charming voice and was beautifully dressed. Among the hostesses of the day were Mrs. Brown and Miss Florine Brown. Mrs. Brown wore a gown of white and lavender foulard and Miss Brown's stunning dress was of white crepe with lace applique and insertions. She always wears pretty dresses. Mrs. Pedar Sather had as her guest Mrs. William Keith of Berkeley, who is her warm friend.

OAKLANDERS AT THE M'NEAR WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Clara McNear in Petaluma took many Oaklanders to that end of the bay. It was a noon church wedding. Miss McNear is a handsome girl and her father is wealthy—it goes with the name. Her husband is a dentist. Among the Oaklanders there were the M'Neers of all branches, the Bowles, the George Williams, the Misses Williams of East Oakland and Dr. and Mrs. Reginald Allen. The Williams and Miss McNear's mother were cousins.

DENIS O'SULLIVAN'S SWEET VOICE.

Denis O'Sullivan is one of the sweetest as well as one of the most versatile singers in the world. His concert last Tuesday night was fashionably crowded and his numbers warmly applauded. He sang bits from the songs of all nations and some of the Indian airs were quaintly pleasing. Best of all, of course, were the Irish songs and ballads, in which he excels, since he sings them with such dash and feeling. He has now gone off to fill his European contracts and engagements, mostly in concert. We were the first to see him upon the stage and I fancy that we shall see and hear more of him in that line before we and he are much older. Mrs. O'Sullivan, though the mother of two little children, is her husband's business manager. Usually one does not expect business ability in an artist, and Mrs. O'Sullivan paints very well, but this clever and versatile woman has much business ability and manages her husband—in a business way, of course—very well.

THE MAGEE WILL.

There will be no contest over the Magee will of course. When Thomas Magee married the second time, he divided his estate into five equal parts, reserving one share for himself and giving one share to each of his four sons. Could anything have been fairer? The result is that the fortune he leaves to his widow and little daughter is not huge but is a comfortable competence. Mrs. Magee, I hear, is incomparable. It is not yet quite decided whether she will remain in the comfortable house in Broadway, near Desidero, but it is probable that she will. Thomas Magee, Jr., and Mrs. Magee, Sr., are the executors.

MISS HULLAH RETURNS TO LONDON.

Miss Annette Hullah, the pretty little English pianist with the aureole of bright hair, who was extensively entertained by the Magees, the Hushes, the Curtises and the O'Sullivans during her stay in San Francisco, has returned to London, where she is the protégée of a wealthy family. Miss Hullah came here primarily for her lungs, which were weak and her general health, which was not good. She lived and had her studio in Greenwich street, near the summit of Russian Hill and while she was here had many pupils. But she is better now and with her wealthy patrons will spend the winter in Greece.

When Miss Hullah came here she had letters from many prominent people and most of those entertained in her honor. At the first large dinner given in her honor she made a queer social blunder often made by visiting English women. It is often said abroad and with truth that American women seldom wear full dress at dinner, high-necked dressy reception gowns being the rule. Miss Hullah had heard of this and at this first formal dinner given in her honor decided that when she was in America she must do as the Americans do and so went to the dinner in a high-necked frock to the intense disgust of her hostess, as the guest of honor proved to be the only woman there in a high dress, the other women had all dressed low in English fashion, Miss Hullah was never asked to that house again.

MISS HEYNEMANN RETURNS.

Miss Julia Heynemann, the artist, who was really a protégée of Sargent, the great portrait painter during her three years' stay in London, has returned to her home in San Francisco, but is at present resting in Pacific Grove. Miss Heynemann had unusual opportunities abroad, as she had a studio near Sargent, who came in to criticize her work almost every day. Miss Heynemann returned to San Francisco on account of the illness of her father, who died shortly after her return. She is a very talented portrait artist and is certain to be heard of. Her brother, A. Heynemann, the lawyer, and her sister-in-law, are spending the winter in Alameda. Mrs. Heynemann is a very pretty and charming woman and was formerly the attractive Miss Gibbs.

DR. GEO. C. PARDEE MAKING RAPID HEADWAY IN STATE

Republican Leader Makes a Splendid Showing in the North—The Situation in the San Joaquin—Prospects in San Francisco.

BY GEORGE F. HATTON.

(Special to the TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—There can be no gainsaying the fact that Dr. Pardee is making rapid headway in the gubernatorial fight. The Lane boomers are making more noise than ever and claiming everything in sight, but a cold sober analysis of the situation presents convincing proof that the Republican standard bearer's victory is assured.

The best evidence regarding the prevailing conditions does not consist of the haphazard statements of partisans interested in making a good showing for their candidates, but rather the reports of those who have been investigating the situation with the object of ascertaining what particular work needs to be done at this time. Almost without exception these reports show that the Republican ticket is strong in all the sections where the heavy votes are expected, and with the exception of San Francisco, where the labor movement is most rampant, the situation is as good as can be expected at this stage of the campaign. From the far north this week came Senator Seligson of Humboldt with good news as to the condition in his county. Humboldt, he says, will give Pardee from 1200 to 1400 majority, for, although Lane shouters have been doing their utmost at Eureka and along the coast, the people up there know too well upon which side their bread is buttered to be deceived by the misrepresentations that are being made in the interests of the Democratic nominee.

Railroad Commissioner Edison of Siskiyou, was another visitor. He reports his county in good shape, and says that the party need have no fears regarding its anticipated majority there.

Advices from Trinity are that although the labor advocates of Lane have been working hard among the miners, and have made considerable headway in some quarters, the impression prevails that everything will come out all right as soon as the stump speakers who have just started out have completed their rounds.

Del Norte is not being bothered to any extent by the labor cry and in Modoc and Lassen, Senator Laird considers matters look well. Fears were entertained at one time about Modoc on account of the feeling there among the friends of the Lynchers against the State administration for its onslaught upon them, but the situation now seems to be all right in that regard. In fact, the stump speakers who have just gone through those counties say that they found Republican enthusiasm more pronounced than they expected.

From those other two remote counties, Alpine and Mono, similar advices are received. Jud Brulce recently toured them for the State Central Committee, accompanied by W. C. Ralston, the nominee for State senator, and they report that the meetings were big, everybody enthusiastic, and the prevailing sentiment indicates a good Republican vote.

AMONG THE MINERS.

Although Shasta should be properly classed as a Democratic county, hopes are entertained there this year that the Republicans will make an unusually strong showing. Several reports have reached the State Central Committee to the effect that with the assistance of some good speakers the prospects are bright. It is needless to say that nothing will be left undone on that score.

Placer county is safely Republican in any event, and Lieutenant Governor Neff, who came to town this week, says that everything is all right up that way. El Dorado county, Placer's next door neighbor, belongs to the Democratic ranks, and although its majority will probably be that way, Pardee is expected to hold his own there all right.

Senator Voorheis, who was in from Amador, says that the splendid meetings that are being held are encouraging enough to warrant satisfactory conclusions, while as for Calaveras, heavily populated as it is by miners, no one there thinks it will leave the Republican ranks, despite the claim-all assertions of the Lane boomers.

Nevada county is the headquarters of John Butler, of the Miners' Union, who is out on the stump for Lane. He has been making the assertion that the Nevada miners are practically a unit for Lane, but this is emphatically denied up there, and the reports are that although the Republican majority may be cut down, the county will remain in the Republican column easily enough.

Mendocino may possibly be carried by Lane. It is a close county in any event, and is hard to canvass, owing to the lack of railroads. For this reason it may prove impossible to explain away in time to the loggers and lumbermen who are scattered in camps all along the coast, that the only safe way for them to vote in their own interests is for the Republican ticket.

Sonoma is another close county, but Allen B. Lemmon, who was here during the week, is well satisfied with the outlook.

Senator Corlett of Napa, and George Strohl, chairman of the Napa county committee, had cheering news when they reached headquarters, for they say that there is no question that Lane will receive a rousing vote in that section. They even look for an increased majority.

Butte is one of those Republican counties where the only question to be answered is how big will the majority be. The visit there this week of Senator Perkins stirred up the enthusiasm to top notch, and the county will go between 400 and 500 for Pardee.

Yuba and Sutter are in the same belt and are not troubled much with the labor movement. Reports from there are that Pardee will get a full Republican vote, and that the prospects are good for a party victory all down the line—county ticket as well as State.

Tolo is another Democratic county. Advices are that Pardee has a fair chance to carry it this year, as there is little labor vote to contend with.

THE SACRAMENTO SITUATION. Sacramento was the source of considerable worry for awhile. The silence of the Record-Union was very ominous and was in some quarters interpreted to mean that Pardee would have a hard time of it in and around the Capital city. Everything, though, is now changed. The Record-Union is booming him and the other Republican candidates, the railroad men are talking Pardee, and Judge Hart and other leading men who came down during the week, say that the ticket is going to get a big majority.

San Joaquin is extremely doubtful this year. Dr. Pardee is personally popular there, but in Stockton the union strength is very pronounced, and seems to have been lined up pretty well for Lane. Dr. Harkness, chairman of the County Central Committee, says that the situation is becoming better and with the rousing campaign work that has been planned between now and the end of the campaign, he is hopeful that everything will come out all right.

Contra Costa appears to be safe enough. There is a new condition to cope with there this election, for, during the past couple of years, Point Richmond has sprung into existence, with a voting population of between 500 and 600. All tests of the situation there have been satisfactory enough to the Republicans, however, for the two clubs they started have each a membership reaching into the hundreds, and the party gatherings invariably have enthusiastic attendances. Along the bay front, in towns like Crockett and Port Costa, another element of doubt exists in the prevalence of union men, but Chairman Millars of Martinez, who with Judge Wells were at headquarters this week, say they do not believe that Lane is really as strong there as is claimed. They are preparing for a big rally at Crockett, at which they want Governor Gage to attend, for, if he would make it known there that he wanted Pardee elected, it would do more good than all the work that can be accomplished in other ways.

Solano county seems unquestionably all right. Although Mare Island is a perfect hive of workmen, they are Republicans to the backbone. They know that the vast amount of work that has been done at Mare Island during the past few years is the result of Republican policies, and they are going to stand by the party that is standing by them.

Marin county is another sure county for Pardee. Labor unions are practically without representation there, and every report shows that Pardee's majority will be fully up to the normal Republican strength of the county.

SAN FRANCISCO PROSPECTS. San Francisco is as disturbed as ever. The Lane people are claiming it by all the way from 6000 to 12,000, but Charles Snook, secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, is not alone when he insists that it will go for Pardee. Sam Rainey says he is willing to bet a few hundred dollars that if Lane carries it by 5000 he will be the next Governor, but as Rainey thinks Pardee will be elected it is evident that he believes Lane's majority will be below that figure.

Even money that Lane carries the metropolis by 6000 is still the betting, and quite a few wagers have been recorded on that basis. Alameda county is also furnishing lots of opportunity for guesswork. Enthusiastic Pardee men say the doctor will carry it by 8000, but Billy Poole says he will bet $1000 that Pardee does not get 5000 majority there. Some people have got it figured out that Alameda county will just about stand on San Francisco as far as the majorities of Lane and Pardee are concerned.

San Mateo is conceded to Pardee by the Lane people. There is some union strength at Redwood city, and Butchertown, but the county is so strongly Republican that there is no question as to how it will line up.

Santa Clara is in a peculiar condition. Under ordinary conditions it would give Pardee a majority in the thousands, but San Jose is such a stronghold for union labor that it is at present impossible to forecast the result. The upper end of the county, where Stanford University is located, will undoubtedly give a large Republican majority, and so will the lower end, where the fruitmen predominate. In San Jose, though, Lane has a big following, and although the Haynes brothers say that Pardee will win the county by a good majority many are inclined to be very skeptical as to the outcome.

ALONG THE COAST. Santa Cruz county will give Pardee a good majority. H. P. Kron, who was in town during the week, says Lane has some strength among the unions at Watsonville, but that Pardee has the right of way throughout the rest of the county and that there need be no fears entertained as to the balance being on the right side.

There are conflicting reports as to Monterey county. It is normally very close, and the result hinges to a great extent upon the way the sugar men feel at the town of Spreckels, where hundreds of operators are employed. The town of Monterey and all that part of the county will give a strong Republican majority, and if the Salinas and Spreckels people are all right Pardee will carry the county by a couple of hundred at least. It is all guesswork at present, though, to say how Monterey will go.

San Luis Obispo is claimed by the friends of Pardee, and apparently with good reason. There is little organized labor to contend with, the doctor has a large personal following, and the county has a local man on the State ticket—Victor Woods, for Surveyor General. For these reasons it looks as if a Pardee majority will be rolled up all right.

Santa Barbara will surely go Republican, and so will the neighboring county of Ventura. In the latter county the Democrats have been making capital out of the fact that one of the Pardee meetings did not turn out well, but when it is explained that it was to have been an afternoon meeting, and that it was impossible for farmers to leave their fields during the daytime, now that harvesting is going on, it can be seen that good and sufficient reasons exist for the way things turned out.

The San Joaquin counties—Stanislaus, Madera, etc., are of course conceded to Lane. The normal Democratic majorities are so large that it is impossible to overcome them, and the Republicans have no hope of doing so. Kings, however, will give a Republican maajority of a couple of hundred, and Fresno will be close; in fact, many Republicans there are hopeful of carrying it.

A SAFE SECTION.

South of Tehachapi everything is Pardee. Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego will give him majorities reaching far into the thousands, and the heavy vote he will roll up there will offset any other section of the State that may be claimed for Lane. It will certainly far more than wipe out any majorities Lane can get in San Francisco and any other northern counties, and although the unions have been making a little flutter in Los Angeles, it is believed that the south of Tehachapi vote this year will go nearly as large for Pardee as it was for Gage, as his local candidate four years ago. Since 1898 many thousands have been added to the southern population, especially in Los Angeles county, and there can be no questioning that fact that the influx is Republican. No wonder the Lane managers look gloomy when the other side of Tehachapi is mentioned; in fact, it is hard for them to get up anything like a confident smile when the State as a whole is considered. There are some spots in it that make them happy enough, but when they include all the counties in their calculations and essay a trial balance they don't like the way it works out.

HATTON.

CONTRA COSTA'S BIG REGISTRATION

TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN THE PRECINCTS ON THE WATER FRONT.

The registration in Contra Costa county is 662 in excess of the registration two years ago.

This increase is confined almost exclusively to the water front precincts. From Martinez to Point Richmond. The agricultural precincts generally show a falling off, which is in accord with the rule in all years.

Antioch loses 31. Somerville 7. Walnut Creek 14. Valinda 22. Brentwood 5. Byron 7. Moraga 20. and Lone Tree 20. Per contra Martinez gains 31. Port Costa 61. Stage 105, and Pinole 39. Two years ago Point Richmond was included in San Pablo precinct, and the total registration was 341. Now Point Richmond has been cut off and made into two precincts, with an aggregate registration of 662. The old San Pablo precinct has an registration this year of 179. The total gain for that territory is 500. The new vote in the water front precincts is fully 800, and its strength is increased by the falling off in the interior.

The complexion of this new vote will be a decisive factor in the vote of the county next month.

Martinez, the county seat, has a registration of 375, only a little more than half that of Point Richmond.

BIG OIL TANKS NEAR ELMHURST

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY ERECTS HUGH STORAGE RESERVOIRS.

ELMHURST, Oct. 18.—The six 35,000 barrel oil tanks which are being erected by the Southern Pacific Company at Melrose for storage purposes are nearly completed. Five of the tanks are completed, with the exception of the roofing over the fifth, while the sixth is still in the course of construction.

When the tanks are completed they will hold over 200,000 barrels of oil, which is equivalent to 70,000 tons of coal. This is a larger amount than is carried at the West Oakland yards. In company has over fifty tanks, with a storage capacity of 5,500,000 barrels.

PURCHASED HOME IN ELMHURST. A. H. Knight, who recently sold his dairy farm on Table Bluff, Humboldt, has purchased a home in this place, where he expects to reside in the near future.

MOVED TO OAKLAND. J. Dufton, a motorman of the Haywards line, who recently sold his property in this place, has moved with his family to Twenty-third avenue, near Twenty-second street, in East Oakland.

A. ROSE HAS MOVED. A. Rose has moved from his former residence on the San Leandro road to a cottage on Bay View avenue, a block above the power-house.

BACK ON MAIL CAR. Joe Perry has been transferred back to the mail car, of which he is the conductor.

ARRAIGNMENT DAY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Yesterday was arraignment day in the Criminal Court presided over by Judge Melvin. A number of minor cases were continued for various periods.

In the case of the People vs. Kelley, who robbed a colored man at Emeryville some months ago, was sentenced to ten years in San Quentin. This was the lightest sentence that could be imposed because a former conviction was pending against the accused.

The case of the People against Mendoza has been set for trial on November 14.

J. J. Carter, the merry-go-round man who is charged with assault upon a little girl in a tent connected with his show, was set for trial for December 1.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC HANDLES VAST AMOUNT OF BEET SUGAR

Will Give Lecture on Six New Telegraph Offices for Arizona Division. Personal Mention of the Track and the Trainmen.

The beet sugar factories of California are sending 1,000 tons of sugar daily to the East through the West Oakland yards. There are employed by the Southern Pacific Company over 1,500 cars daily in handling the raw beets in the various parts of the State. It takes thirty cars to handle the refined product daily. This means a freight train a day is used exclusively in handling the sugar. The beet sugar season has been in full swing for thirty days, but has not yet reached its maximum.

The beet industry as compared to last year's shipments has increased full 100 per cent and is an active competitor with Hawaii.

The industry has increased so rapidly that the Company found it necessary to construct 300 cars especially for the trade at the West Oakland yards. About 400 cars have been built for the same purpose in other portions of the system, notably at Los Angeles.

Altogether last year there were not more than 800 cars used in carrying the raw beets to the factory, while this year there are fully twice that number. In fact the demand for cars exceeds the supply considerably. If the next year calls for as large an increase as the present one, the Company will have 2,000 cars employed in the service.

Alameda county furnished about one-half of the product which is sent to New York and other Eastern points. The factories at Alameda and Crockett are especially busy and are using several hundred carloads of beets per day.

The remainder of the output comes from the Coast Refineries located south of Oakland.

In comparison to the Hawaiian sugar trade the indications are that California will soon outstrip her southern sister. The traffic enjoyed from the beet industry means much more to the Southern Pacific even now than the enormous amount of sugar imported from Hawaii. The Hawaiian product this year was no small factor, but the returns from the beet industry will be two or three times as large.

There are now waiting 700 tons of beet sugar at Long Wharf for Hawaii. This is the first shipment of Californian sugar which has ever been sent to Hawaii. The sugar season closed there over thirty days ago, and it is thought that the refined product has not yet been placed on the market.

SUGAR PINE SEASON HAS NOW BEGUN

The California sugar pine trade which has lain dormant for nearly a year has opened with a rush. Several million feet are awaiting shipment to Australia and other points. The fall is the only season in which sugar pine is active. The timber comes from the Northern Counties, where the snow prevents early shipments. The wood itself is of such a character that it must be put through a special process before it is of commercial value.

For years the lumbermen of this State passed the sugar pine by as being an unmarketable wood. Only recently a process was discovered whereby the lumber could be made of value. Since then it has forged rapidly to the front and is now listed as one of California's leading industries. Oddly enough Australia is the greatest consumer of California sugar pine. Last year the demand was so great from the antipodes that it could not be supplied. The result was that orders amounting to six million feet were carried over until this year.

The season has opened briskly. Two vessels carrying over 250,000 feet have already been dispatched and several are waiting to be loaded.

The trade with Australia amounts to three or four million dollars last year and the prospects are that this sum will be increased fifty per cent this year.

An odd fact connected with the handling of sugar pine is that mules, horses and other animals have been displaced by the traction engine. All the hauling of the lumber out of Shasta County and other Northern Counties is done by means of the steam traction engine. The improvements in this direction have gone so far that many of the engines burn oil.

BUSINESS IS VERY HEAVY AT THE YARDS.

All lines of traffic at the West Oakland yards continue to be unusually heavy and taxes the ingenuity of the yardmen to handle the vast amount of which is daily being handled.

The "wish bone" route by the way of San Jose is still used in getting freight between Oakland and San Jose. The security of cars is so great that many expedients are being resorted to. It was found necessary to release sixty cars loaded with scrap iron, and consigned to Sacramento. The iron was brought to Oakland from various points of the system. The Sacramento division is too busy to handle the iron at present and the demand for cars made it necessary to dump the iron on the ground.

The iron represent a small fortune. It is valued at $200 per ton and will aggregate about $25,000.

For two months yet there is no immediate prospect of relief from the present scarcity of cars.

ANOTHER CANNON BALL FOR WEST BERKELEY.

The traffic between Oakland, West Berkeley and the points immediately north has increased to such an extent that the Southern Pacific Company has found it necessary to put on an additional freight train, which makes daily trips to those points.

The train is known in railroad parlance as "Cannon Ball No. 2."

MAGNIFICENT NEW TRACK TO SACRAMENTO.

The Southern Pacific Company will soon have a magnificent track between Oakland and Sacramento. A portion of the road is already in existence. The run between Suisun and Sacramento is laid with 36 pound rails. The remainder of the distance will be laid with the same kind of rails.

The rails are six and one-half inches high. At the base they are six inches wide. The weight per yard is ninety-six pounds. The ordinary track is five inches high with a five inch base and weigh about seventy-six pounds to the yard.

The new track will permit of a very high rate of speed. The passenger trains, pulled by the new Baldwin compounds, will be able to travel seventy miles per hour with ease along the roadway.

RAILWAY CLUB WILL ATTEND COLLEGE TONIGHT.

The Pacific Coast Railway Club will attend the lecture on the "Chemistry of Water as Applied to Railroad" by Professor Edmund O'Neill of the University of California this evening. The lecture will be held in the Chemistry Building at 8 o'clock.

This is the first of a series of lectures which will be given at the University with the special purpose of interesting the railroad men. The lecture will be accompanied with profuse illustrations of the subject and will be of great interest to the railroad men.

Much credit for the arrangements with the University is due C. C. Barton, Secretary of the Pacific Coast Railway Club.

WILL TELL OF RAILROADS IN THE FROZEN ZONE.

A special treat is in store for the railroad men at a near date. The Pacific Coast Railway Club has made arrangements to have a complete description of the means of operation and the difficulties encountered in railroading in Alaska.

The paper will be written by J. R. Van Cline, master mechanic of the White Pass and Yukon Railroad, which has its headquarters at Skagway.

The paper will be accompanied with profuse illustrations, and will give an accurate idea of what has to be contended with in plowing through the snow banks of the frozen north.

It is thought the paper is of much popular interest, and the doors of the Club may be thrown open to the public on that occasion.

The article will be printed in pamphlet form with the illustrations.

ROCHDALE SOCIAL CLUB HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING.

The Rochdale Social Club held an enjoyable meeting on last Thursday evening. The next meeting of the organization will be held a week from Thursday. Thereafter monthly meetings will be held.

Many of the railroad men were present at the first meeting.

SIX TELEGRAPH OFFICES FOR ARIZONA DIVISION.

Foreman F. V. Carman of the Mills has received orders for the immediate construction of six new telegraph offices for the Arizona Division. The lumber will be completed in about three weeks and shipped to the various points in Arizona.

The six additional offices are for new points along the line.

DRAW BRIDGE FOR STOCKTON NEARLY READY.

The draw bridge for the Mormon Channel near Stockton is nearly complete. All of the lumber will have left the Mills by the end of next week.

The bridge will be built in three stories and will be about 600 feet in length. It will take the place of the present bridge which has become much worn by constant service.

STEAMER MODOC WILL SOON SEE SERVICE AGAIN.

The steamer Modoc will soon be ready for service again. The entire framework of the superstructure has been rebuilt, and little remains to be done except filling up the interior.

INTERESTING BREVITIES FROM LONG WHARF.

The steamer Titania has finished discharging 6,000 tons of coal.

The Anconia is discharging coal from Australia.

The Australian ship Francisco Giuseppe is discharging coke.

The French bark Saurbaki is expected to arrive soon with a cargo of coke.

The British ship Glenclava is also expected to arrive with coke from England.

The ships Spence and Genial Gordon have finished loading with California sugar pine at Long Wharf.

The ship Cloverdon has finished discharging 12,000 barrels of cement.

PERSONAL MENTION OF THE RAILROAD MEN.

H. C. Rouse, Superintendent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, was one of the arrivals at the West Oakland yard in his private car this week.

Vice-President Hamilton of the Central Pacific was also one of the railroad men to arrive.

Superintendent J. Bevingt of the St. Joseph and Northern Railroad also arrived in his private car at Tammoth. He had a narrow escape from being burned. His private car was caught between a number of burning cars and lumber on fire, and it was with great difficulty that the car was rescued. The end of it was badly blistered.

A. J. Blair, Canadian Minister of Canals and Railroads, arrived in his private car from Quebec on Thursday.

C. J. Fogg and J. L. Noble have resigned from the Car Repairing Department to take up switching under Foreman Colton of the freight yards.

Fireman Charles Verry, while making his run Thursday from Port Costa to Oakland was struck on the head by a rock picked up by the engine. The rock inflicted a scalp wound an inch and one-half long on the back of his head. The rock came through the cab window.

W. H. Catron and wife have gone to Portland, Ore., where they will visit friends for the next few weeks.

Machinist Thomas Cullen has obtained a leave of absence to visit Fresno.

Machinist J. Rollins has resigned his position to accept another with the Northwestern Railroad.

Machinist J. Newell is on the sick list. He was taken to the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco.

George Goodwin has returned from Vadsforth after an absence of several months.

Machinist Harris Berndel has returned from his vacation of three weeks.

R. Fisher is back to work again.

WILLIAM DALTON SAYS HE WAS ASSAULTED.

William Dalton, a millhand, who resides at 1412 Fifteenth street, had four stitches put in a scalp wound at the Receiving Hospital last night by Steward Page. He said that he was assaulted by a man unknown to him in the Third Ward.

PROBATE NOTES.

Judge Ellsworth has ordered set aside as a homestead, property near Railroad Avenue and Mozart Street as a homestead for Mary E. Healy, widow of the late Daniel J. Healy.

The estate of Catherine J. Liston has been ordered sold. The property is valued at $5,332.

Kate Quinn has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late James Quinn. The estate is valued at $300. The deceased was a resident of this county. He died in Grant County, Oregon, March 13, 1895.

Fashion Notes==Fads for Women==A Little Fun

BEAUTY OF APPAREL.

The men who are interested in women's apparel may be divided into three classes—those who make money out of it, those who spend money for it, and those who have no financial interests involved, but who regard the female garment with an aesthetic or artistic eye.

Of course men of rational mind and artistic sense belong to the latter class, whether they contribute to the wealth of dressmakers or not. It is very natural, then, that the proceedings of the National Dressmakers' association is invested with wide popular interest, and that the present tendencies toward the graceful and simple draping of the natural figure, as revealed by the models displayed, is hailed by masculine humanity with delight.

This tendency is plainly disclosed in the evolution of the natural waist. We are drifting gradually and delightfully toward the "Greek models" and ideas in women's apparel. Even the costliest gowns are murmurings of simplicity compared to the complex, profusely embellished creations of a few years ago. The curves of feminine beauty are brought out in graceful relief instead of being hidden under billowing mountains of flounces and ruffles.

The passing of the old-time coat of mail known as a corset was marked by one of the speakers, who said:

"Ganks can't kick about tight lacing any more. Women don't want to have their ribs broken because a natural waist —what would have been called a large waist two years ago—is the proper thing. The corsets are cut lower and allow the lungs full play. Instead of instruments of torture like the old, high-front affairs, they have hygienic value. One style, for instance, has been pronounced by physicians the ideal corset."

For the passing of this instrument of torture and the coming of the "natural waist" all mankind is truly thankful. It is doubtful if anyone of rational mind ever truly admired the tightly-laced, wasp-waisted woman. Naturalness in manner and dress has always stood for the highest attainment in female comeliness—and it always will.

CULTIVATE BEAUTY.

Every woman that exists has some point of beauty, possibly dormant, which she can develop; it may be a cultivated intellect, an inspired soul, sweet nature, fine presence, lovely form or beautiful face, and somewhere on this great round globe somebody has recognized that fact or will. So it behooves all womanhood to look well into themselves, and endeavor to improve the good points, to ameliorate the unfortunate ones, and entirely forget that they have any bad ones.

There is nothing so far-reaching as self-forgetfulness, either where beauty exists, or does not exist.

A famous statesman on being asked what he considered the greatest type of beauty in women, replied: "The face that is beautiful and does not know it, and the homely woman, who by her intelligence and graceful bearing makes you forget it."

Life is too short to be constantly regretting the lack of some type either of form or face we do not possess. The sighing for grey eyes when we have blue and longing for black tresses when ours are golden, will only bring wrinkles and discontent, thereby making others unhappy. But there are ways and means provided both by nature, exercise and discipline whereby we can wonderfully improve, eradicate and change many of the unhappy conditions of life.

TO PAINT OR NOT TO PAINT.

American beauty is surveying a problem, says the Chicago Tribune. If some bold, courageous soul who lives for the artistic alone will please step forward and solve it a sigh of relief will arise from many fashionable quarters. The problem is this:

"Shall we or shall we not veneer our faces with paint?"

It is not a question of dabbing the cheeks with rouge or painting a little youth in a face which has become middle-aged. It is not a question of doing a little retouching so delicately and gently that it may appear as the real bloom. This is a question of making a bold acknowledgment that the face has been treated with remarkable violet color.

Of course, if no one in high quarters stood sponsor for the violet veneer there would be no problem. But that is just the trouble. In Paris and London it's the thing, and even if you say it's absurd, what are you going to do about it when it comes direct from the fountainhead of fashion?

The Duchess of Marlborough is responsible for the problem. For the Duchess paints her face, and it is not the delicate secretive dabs which have been referred to. What the Duchess carries instead of her natural complexion, and that is said to be a good one, is a veneer of violet tint.

There is this about it to recommend it. You can't tell a mother of 45 from her daughter of 20. Since the Duchess came back with her violet-tinted beauty the fashionable women of the country have been asking each other:

"Do you really think you have the courage?"

And as yet no one has.

One of the first exclamations of an American visiting London and seeing the women of fashion there is: "Why, they all use cosmetics!"

So they do, violet tinted. Queen Alexandra sets the fashion. To see her one would think her a woman of 35. And she is a grandmother. Mrs. Cornwallis-West uses the violet veneer and looks like a young woman. The mothers cannot be distinguished from their daughters if the observer be a few feet away.

Americans are inclined to wonder if this violet tint be the famous English complexion which has been asserted to be the most beautiful in the world. If so it is possible for women of all nationalities to present the same appearance. It is only a question of a little coat of violet paint.

London is given credit for having originated the new paint. Paris took the fashion readily and Berlin is beginning to show violet tinted faces on the boulevards.

WASHINGTON BUDS.

Young women will be scarce in the Cabinet circle at Washington next year. Last season there were eight girls to take part in the social features, but next winter, what with marriages and absence from the capital, things will be quite different. The two Hay girls are married, Miss Root is in Europe, as is also Miss Knox, and the Misses Hitchcock are in mourning for a near relative.

CHOPS-SUEY AND HOW IT IS MADE.

Chop-suey, the national dish of China for at least 25 centuries, bids fair to become a standard food in this country. There are some 60 Chinese restaurants scattered over the different boroughs of Greater New York whose chief attraction in this popular composition, and several American restaurants have endeavored to take advantage of its popularity by adding it to their daily bill of fare. There is a ridiculous amount of mystery concerning the dish. It is simple, economical and easily made. The general formula is as follows: One pound of moderately lean fresh pork, cut into pieces a quarter of an inch thick, a half an inch wide, and an inch long; two chicken livers, chopped up to the size of dice, two chicken gizzards, cut into slices the size of a nickel; a quarter of a pound of celery cut into silvers, a quarter of a pound of canned mushrooms and a quarter of a pound of green peas, chopped string beans, asparagus tips, bean sprouts or salsify. These are thrown into a frying-pan over a hot fire, covered with a cup of water, four tablespoonful of peanut oil, olive oil or melted butter, a tablespoonful of chopped onion, half a clove of garlic, grated salt, white pepper and red pepper.

If the fire is not enough these will cook in five minutes. The contents of the pan should be stirred to prevent burning, and the moment the water boils out fresh water should be added in small quantities to prevent frying. The dish should be served promptly, and is not only palatable, but wholesome and easily digested. In place of pork mutton can be employed, while chicken liver and gizzard may be replaced by those of the turkey. Some Chinese cooks use the Indian soy, which is sweeter. The effect can be imitated by adding a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and another of brown sugar or a teaspoonful of molasses. An agreeable modification results from the use of asparagus tips along with the other vegetable ingredients, while the Singapore variety is obtained by stirring in a tablespoonful of curry paste. In the Chinese restaurants the cost varies from 10 to 25 cents a plate, the more expensive dish containing a fair amount of the best French mushrooms.

ON CONSIDERATION.

Tom—I fell in love with her at first sight.
Jack—You did?
Tom—Yes, and then I took a second look.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

THE OLD STORY.

He—Am I good enough for you, darling?
She—No, George; but you are too good for any other girl.—New York News.

A TRUSTFUL LITTLE ONE.

Kitty had been told that the thunder was the voice of "the good man up in the sky," warning her to run into the house to avoid the rain, and on one or two occasions she had failed to heed the warning and suffered unpleasant consequences. She was playing out of doors the other morning when there came a clap of distant thunder. She dropped everything and scudded into the house, but the rain failed to come. After waiting till she became impatient she went to the door, looked up at the clouds, and called out: "If you're going to rain why don't you do it? I've been in here 10 minutes!"—Chicago Tribune.

WHAT THE WOMEN ARE DOING IN THE CLUBS

THE DENVER WOMAN'S CLUB.

In a few weeks the Denver Woman's Club will open a clubhouse absolutely unique in that it has a finely equipped gymnasium for the free use of its members. Of the thousands of women's clubs in the general Federation, which are in clubhouses of their own or rented quarters, not one has made provision for the cultivation of the body as well as the brain, so these wide-awake daughters of the West are to be congratulated on so wise an initiative. There are times when it will doubtless be a comfort to be able, after a preliminary bout on the floor of the auditorium, to go upstairs to the gymnasium and punch the bag. It will be such a relief to the overstrained feelings of the strenuous sister.

This spic-and-span structure, moreover, is somewhat unusual in that it is built in the heart of the business district. Plunked in as it is on either side with big business blocks, it does not possess the homelike architecture of most of the women's clubs, but, at the same time, it puts up a very attractive front of four stories. It cost $40,000 without furnishings. The first floor has the reception and tea rooms, and an auditorium. Aside from the studio and library there is an auditorium on the second floor with a seating capacity of 500. The third floor, with for the present, are reserved as storerooms, though eventually it is likely to be converted into sleeping quarters for the use of members. On the fourth floor is the coveted arena for physical culture, complete with the most approved paraphernalia. This gymnasium, it may be mentioned, is the outgrowth of physical culture classes, which, since the inception of the club seven or eight years ago, have been conducted free for members.

A PROBLEM SOLVED.

To princesses and business women alike, as to all women, everywhere, one problem presents itself continually—the problem of reconciling the trailing skirt of fashion with the demands of common sense and the requirements of hygienic cleanliness. Miss "Meb" Culbertson, a Bachelor Girl and sculptor, born in Richmond, Ind., but widely known over two continents, believes that she has solved this problem to a great extent. Like many other valuable inventions, Miss Culbertson's bright idea, which is now being patented, owed its birth and origin to necessity. A length of handsome brocade, a furbeloned, had descended to Miss Culbertson, whose pedigree is so long and aristocratic. She very much desired two skirts of this material—a long, sweeping garment, suitable for grand occasions, and a trim, jaunty, "clear-the-ground," for studio teas and so on. But alas! there was little more than enough for a single skirt. "Make up the 'clear-the-ground' for me," commanded Miss Culbertson, obeying a brilliant inspiration, "then make up a separate shaped flounce which can be buttoned on under the trimming."

The plan worked beautifully, and has since been tried, with shining success, for tailor-made and other garments. The adjustable flounce can be carried about, made into a small parcel, and the walking skirt transformed into a gracefully sweeping drapery at a moment's notice. This brilliant achievement has earned wide fame for its originator, and has endeared her name and personality to large numbers of other skirt-puzzled and perplexed

ASACOG CLUB.

There is in New York a club with an Indian-sounding name, which, translated, means simply, "All Sorts and Conditions of Girls," and the association was formed five or six years ago on an altruistic basis that has never been lost sight of. The yearly ball by which the club name "Asacog" has been kept before the public is the only occasion on which it seeks fame. And the desire is only that the tickets may be disposed of to better advantage, for the chief object of the affair is the raising of funds for the prosecution of the Settlement work of the year, the only other available source being the dues of the members, active, associate and sustaining. Yet this ball has labeled the club to many as "society affair" only. It is true that its members all belong to the best families in Brooklyn and are young women whose names will always be found in accounts of fashionable life. In this club, however, they are moving along the line of modern thought in Settlement work and were among the pioneers in the field in Brooklyn.

The Asacog Club has a resident in charge of its clubhouse, a free kindergarten, a luncheon club for factory girls, a chair-caning club for boys, a free library, Penny Provident Fund, boys' club (the Stars and Stripes), little girls' club (Sunshine Club), mothers' club sewing classes for the children and mothers, gymnasium classes for boys and girls, held at the Newsboys' Home, 6 Poplar street; kitchen garden classes, a cooking class and several other minor departments. There are sixty active members, each of whom is on a committee. Associate members have all the rights of the active members except that of voting. The dues for both classes are $3. Sustaining members contribute $5 annually. Miss Ethel E. Valentine is president.

CO-OPERATIVE HOUSEKEEPING.

The modern tendency toward co-operative living, whether it be shown in boarding-house, hotel, and apartment living, or in the community co-operative kitchen, is taken by many social economists as a distinct movement toward home life. It may, perhaps, for a limited class of society, but not for the great majority of the American homes. The instinct for home life and home-making is too strongly imbedded, certainly in the American woman, to be uprooted in many generations, if ever. It is founded on that deep underlying principle which impels the birds to mate and forthwith to build a nest. It expresses itself in varying forms, sometimes in a way that is scarcely to be recognized, but it is, none the less, the basis of the home, and it is carried to such apparently expressionless places as apartments and hotels, and even to single rooms.

"Other times, other manners," are written across every department of life to-day. It was most praiseworthy and essential, for example, that our grandmothers and great-grandmothers should carefully husband the tallow of the household, run it into the molds that were as common in every kitchen as the teakettle is still; but oil lamps, gas, and electricity have pushed tallow candles so far to one side that they will never be heard of again, except as a historic bit of colonial economy. This one instance that might be multiplied indefinitely may be taken as a type of the radical material changes that have followed one after the other in the years of the development of the American home as it exists to-day.

As radical, too, as the step from the tallow dip to the electric light are the mental changes that have succeeded each other through these same generations. The influences that have diffused education, particularly among women, and that have brought the whole world in close touch, one nation with the other, so that a frost in the Florida orange groves affects the merchants in Italy, have not failed to leave their imprint on the outlook, the character, and the temperament of the American woman, who is still the arbiter of the American home.

The coming home must be different, widely different from those that have preceded it through many decades. It began with the creation, and it will last till Gabriel sounds the trumpet.

HEBREW PHILANTHROPY.

On the top floor of the New Era building, Halstead street and Blue Island avenue, is one of the most unique institutions in the city. It is known as the "United Hebrew Workroom." The presiding genius, or more technically, the superintendent, is Mrs. Louise Mitchell.

This workroom has a mission among the poor Jewish women of Chicago. It aims to give employment to deserted wives and dependent widows, who have children to feed and clothe. It seeks to make them self-supporting by teaching them various kinds of needlework. And lastly, it endeavors to educate them in their own esteem, and to give them that desire for a certain social standing so essential to the happy woman's make-up.

Every day the rooms are filled with women on whose poverty and helplessness are known to Superintendent Edward Rubovits of the United Hebrew Charities. They come at 9 o'clock in the morning and leave at 4 in the afternoon. These hours allow them to complete all their household work before leaving home, and to return in time to prepare the evening meal. The tasks given them are not hard, and in payment each receives 75 cents a day. The only drawback to the workroom is that it can accommodate no more than fifty women at a time. The committee must, therefore, perform its duties on principles of scientific charity and according to the means at its disposal. It cannot be generous. It can only be just. In commenting on this Superintendent Rubovits says:

"Our applicants appear in a different attitude from that adopted by those who petition upon Jewish charitable institutions. They demand where others ask. It is true that our donors were more liberal. The peculiarities may have their origin in that maxim out of the Bible: 'For the poor shall never cease out of the land.' And, therefore, the liberality, on the one hand, is greater, and the demands from our people on the other, are more persistent.

"Our manner of procedure is easily explained. A case appears and the application is taken. Then an investigation is made. This is done for the purpose of learning the history of the case and to ascertain the causes that prompted the person to ask for assistance, and also to enable the members of the committee to form an opinion as to what extent aid should be furnished. Such investigations frequently lead to detection of intended fraud, sometimes to unworthiness.

"On this latter point I wish to say that the women who are taken into the workroom are all respectable and upright morally.

"We do not, as a rule, undertake our investigations with the preconceived idea that we shall discover its object to be unworthy. When we do discover it to be such, it is quite accidental, and very disappointing. In that case, of course, the applicant is refused aid. When we have cause merely to suspect that something is wrong we give the woman the benefit of the doubt until something further develops.

"Every worthy case is taken up promptly, and all possible assistance is granted."

The work furnished is chiefly that of making men's neckties for the wholesale establishments. The big manufacturers furnish the material, and pay from 5 to 25 cents a dozen for having the ties made up.

ONE WOMAN'S WORK.

Mrs. Alice B. Gossage of Rapid City, S. D., is a type of Western energy and pluck. She can edit and print a newspaper, and has frequently shouldered the work of the Rapid City Daily Journal, which her husband edits. She is an expert typewriter, and as a writer she has a crisp, epigrammatic style. She is also a fine cook, an active worker in the Women's Christian Temperance Union, vice-president of the Current Events Club in her city and for nearly twenty years has been primary San-City.

A TALENTED CALIFORNIAN.

Miss Carroll McComas, a daughter of a California Judge, has caused quite a sensation in New York swell circles by her ability as a whistler. Even musical critics say that the charming young stiffeuse has wonderful talent, her phrasing and technique—if such it may be called—being practically perfect. Judge McComas hails from Los Angeles and is well off.

POETRY SELECTED TO INTEREST THE WOMEN

REALISM.

O, writers, don't you just to please a friend,
Don't so pessimistic
And don't you write stories and
And don't you write and then contrive
To let the lovers love,
Nor have the heroine arrive
To find the hero dead?

The fair appearing things of life
Are not forever bad;
And even in this vale of strife
Are moments that are good.
O, can't you now and then contrive
To find the heroine arrive
To find the hero dead?

Quit basting every happy bud,
Quit clouding every blue,
Quit plastering our gods with mud,
Quit making sweet things sour,
Write, tired of fopishness and
Ring off ye billows when—do
For pity's sake let up!

THE UNDISCOVERED COUNTRY.

The land that ends our dark, uncertain
Travel,
Where lie those happier hills and meads
Down below—
Ah, beyond the spirit's inmost cave
Night of that country could we surely Know,
Who would not go?
Might we but hear
The hovering angels' high imagined
Chorus,
Or catch, bodiless, with wakeful eyes
One radiant vista of the realm before us—
With one rapt moment given to see and hear,
Ah, who would fear?

Were we quite sure
To find the perfect friend who left us lonely,
Or, there, by some celestial stream as pure,
To gaze in eyes that here were lovely only—
This weary mortal coil, were we quite

HIGHER CULTURE ON THE FARM.

Our Mary Jane has been to school (she calls it "Female College")
To get the hang of languages and other kinds of knowledge.
We scraped and saved to put her where we thought it best would pay,
Her mother making butter, her daddy taking hay.
We sent her for a year or two term, we wanted her to get Educational advantages—she has 'em
you can bet.
She's learned a heap of other things (it's them that makes the fuss).
She 'aint content to know herself, but wants to teach to us.
Since Mary Jane's been home from school,
you'd scarcely know the place:
The old-time parlor fixings has got their
"keep-dee-grace."
The supper that my mother worked, the hair wreaths sister made,

The new rag carpet Mandy sewed, (she'd barely got it laid),
The horse puzzle and chairs to match—
they all had got to go.
For Mary Jane decided they were scarce—
"I 'com on cel fow."
The new parlor of shells and beads
(they took a year to make),
But they're banished to the garret, for "higher culture's" sake.
Since Mary Jane's been home from school
I would puzzle any man
To name the things we got to eat, and as for me, I swan
I never go to table without offering up a prayer,
That when I get to Heaven, they'll feed me farmer's fare.
For the "rigors" and the "entries," the "horse dee overs" too,
And ways as satisfying as a pork and turkey stew.
And the "trifles" and the "suffites," the jellies, and the cake,
Don't fill a feller like the pies that Mandy used to make.

And then again our manners, they mightn't be "up to snuff."
But still for me and Mandy they were just the way we had to go.
But Mary Jane, "Lord bless us!" finds fault from "morn till night."
There ain't a thing we do or say we do or say it right.
It's true we brought it on ourselves, and it's awful sad.
I'm clear worn out with listening, and Mandy's just as bad.
Some day we'll stop off the perch, just write it on our grave.
"They died from 'higher culture'" and a learning to behave."
See CH. I, I. —Helen Combes.

floats
And flings her liquid notes
Down through the ether, like a golden ray,
Or rainbow-tinted spray.
Change sorrow into song, and bid her soar
Till earth be seen no more.
But call her soft (lest she escape thee then)
To thine own heart again.
—Elizabeth French.

But we dreamed on those billows of havens of rest;
O, the bells and knells
Still the chime of the bells—
"Home in the beautiful morning!"

III.
"Mid the wrecks that were tossed of the storm and the strife
We had drifted so far from the love that is life:
But the bells o'er the foam!
Everywhere of home—
"Home in the beautiful morning!"

IV.
O, storm, and black billows!—not hopeless we roam,
For we guide the ship to the white shores of home!
And the melody swells
From the jubilant bell—
"Home in the beautiful morning!"

PICKED TO PLEASE THE YOUNG FOLKS

STORIES OF FAMOUS ARTISTS.

Leonardo da Vinci was a great Italian artist, of whom it was said that he was endowed by the hand of God himself. He was born over twenty years before Michael Angelo, in 1452, in a little Italian village near Florence. His father was a lawyer and quite well off. Among the twelve children in the family Leonardo was the pet, because he was so clever and good-looking. He was one of the brightest boys in school, too, and learned everything very quickly. He loved his books and he loved the trees and flowers also, and was devoted to music. When very young he made a lot of drawings on the margins of his books, and his father thought them so good that he took them to Andrea Verrochio, a famous artist, to see. Verrochio advised him, by all means, to make his son a painter, and so da Vinci went to Leonardo to study in Verrochio's studio. Verrochio was painting a picture of Christ being baptized, and he asked Leonardo to paint an angel in the left-hand corner. When it was finished Verrochio saw it was so much better than his work, and it so discouraged him that a young boy should do more than himself that he declared that he would never touch the brush again, and he never did.

Leonardo always carried his sketch-book hung to his girdle and he went about the streets of Florence looking for beautiful faces to paint. He was a very tender-hearted man and often when he passed places where birds were sold he would buy them and then take them from their cages and set them free. He was very strong and could take a horse shoe in his hands and bend it in half. He studied hard and faithfully, and some idea of his perseverance may be had from the fact that he spent ten years making the clay model of a statue. Perhaps his greatest work is "The Last Supper," painted on the wall of a church in Florence. Sometimes he would work on this picture all day long without eating or drinking a morsel. He used to say that his hand trembled when ever he tried to paint the head of Christ. Leonardo finished his work in about three years.

Leonardo lived until he was 67 years old. The church in which he was buried was destroyed during a war and all trace of Leonardo's grave was gone.

In 1573 a large and beautiful statue of the great painter was raised in Milan. On the four corners are statues of his principal scholars. Leonardo was talented in so many ways that he was called "the all-knowing Leonardo." He was a great civil engineer, and besides being a writer and composer he invented a number of things.

THE ANT MAN.

To look at the mild, timid ants of our cool climates, which run at the sight or sound of people, build their humble nests under a stone or the roots of a tree, and content themselves with gentlemanly little thefts of seeds or grain, or such small matters—to look at these gentle little fellows you would never imagine that there are some branches of their family, distant cousins, which are so fierce in pursuit of their human neighbor's goods, so strong and so intelligent, that even grown men are afraid of them, and sometimes whole villages turn out to fight them. But it is so, and these eyes of mine have looked upon them and their ruthless doings.

The formiga, as this destroyer is called, constructs a citadel for itself underground, its only communication with the world above being by secret passages. If it can find any wood-bore thereabouts it captures and carries them home, makes a yard for them, a veritable farm yard, and keeps them content by furnishing a supply of fresh leaves every day, just for all the world as we feed our farm stock. The formiga is a marauder of its own kind, too, making raids on its weaker cousins and bearing off their eggs, which, in due course of hatching, become the slaves of their captors.

Usually, the people of those tropical regions pay little attention to the doings of the formiga. They come and go as they list, running over the rooms, tables, dishes; they are fished out of the butter, tapped out of the bread and cake. It is all a matter of course.

But when these sturdy little fellows invade the house in swarms, and a warm reception, boiling water, fails to diminish the nuisance, then the services of the ant-man become necessary and he is sent for in hot haste. His stock in trade is an enormous bellows, and a load of certain kind of wood found in the neighboring forests. After stopping up all the openings leading under the house, except a central one, he enlarges that and forms it into a furnace that will admit the ripe of the bellows.

Then he lights a fire, and with the aid of the great bellows, forces the smoke into the ant citadels under the surface of the ground. Of course these are very porous, and when the smoke passes through them, it goes out into the house above. Then the ant man leaves an assistant to work the bellows, and going into the house he stops up every aperture and crack that he can find.

Meanwhile there is a wild commotion among those doomed insects whose home is being bombarded with smoke. They understand their danger with the very first puff that reaches them and know that their only hope is in flight. They all hasten to the central chamber, where their precious eggs are stored. At a given signal from their chief each one seizes an egg, then all turn in haste into the subterranean passages that lead into the garden, deserting their homes and carefully stored stock of provisions, but holding fast to the treasure eggs.

But there, before them, are the cruel wreaths of black smoke. They turn and rush to another passage. The same thing there. As a forlorn hope the poor ants—run into the old deserted galleries, are set to work to make new ones, hoping that their enemy will not find them there at last.

But the ant man is patrolling the grounds around the house. As the old or new galleries are cleared out by the brave little ants, the smoke penetrates, and comes to the surface in a thin wreath. They are thus betrayed as well as smothered, and a stroke of the spade ends their frantic efforts to escape.

All this time fresh quantities of the hot smoke are being forced through their highways and byways, and the frail bodies of the formiga are shivering and dropping along their line of attempted retreat. Soon they cease to struggle. They cannot breathe the rarified, smoke-laden air. The next day, when the soil has cooled off, they are found calcined in their once busy galleries, their roasted eggs at their side. Poor little creatures!

But their human victims call the ant-man a blessing.

The reportorial force was discussing the headline, "Lillian Russell's Legs" on a rather prominent article on the editorial page. After every one but a sad-eyed scribe had contributed an opinion, he remarked: "If the expression must be used, I should prefer it in a footnote."—Boston Herald.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

A Profitable Investment In Beauty And Health.

When a woman laughs she is either pretty or homely. No matter how exquisitely shaped her teeth, red lips may be in repose, the minute they separate in a smile and the two rows of incisors are exposed to view her looks are made or marred.

Of course, a woman who has by nature unbroken and discolored teeth can hope for little in the way of making them resemble the much desired rows of gleaming pearls, but with the aid of a good dentist she may overcome many of the defects. It seems almost needless to mention the necessity for constantly watching the teeth, for nearly every man, woman and child has learned the value of visiting a dentist semi-annually, or perhaps oftener. It is really the only way to keep the teeth in excellent condition.

However, this alone is not sufficient. Science has proved to us that disintegration is going on constantly, and the only method of preventing decay is to care for them every day.

The value of sound and beautiful teeth is incalculable, and it is a well known fact that their appearance is an indication of the general health of the individual. Those who suffer from dyspepsia or any gastric derangement will necessarily display indications of the ailment in their teeth. A man or woman possessing straight, even rows of clear white incisors will invariably present an example of almost perfect health.

There is no part of the physical organization that will more quickly show the effects of ill health than the teeth, and conversely they are extremely susceptible to good treatment.

A careful overhauling by the dentist every six months, or even four times a year, is not enough. There are unseen and insidious agents constantly seeking the destruction of all teeth, and the only way to prevent them from accomplishing their work is to care for the mouth daily. It is very good advice to say "keep them clean," but even this is not enough to successfully wage warfare against the multitude of germs lying in wait to accomplish their end.

The teeth should be brushed thoroughly night and morning, and there is more in this art of cleaning than the average person realizes. In the first place, the toothbrush should be selected with the utmost care, this should fit the mouth and the bristles must not be too stiff.

This is a mistake frequently made by even the most intelligent persons, for they are so desirous of removing every bit of foreign substance from the incisors and incisors that they use bristles so stiff that in a short time the enamel of the teeth shows a decided wearing. Of course a brush that has rather supple bristles does cleanse the teeth more easily and successfully than one of flexible hairs, but the result will, in the end, be far more satisfactory with the latter. A good and pleasant tooth paste is invaluable in helping to keep the teeth in the condition, and the main thing to avoid when selecting a paste or powder is a grittiness. Unless the powder is extremely fine and smooth the enamel will very soon show signs of wear. Strong washes also destroy the coating, though they frequently impart an unnatural and temporary whiteness that seems rather attractive at first.

It is never a good idea to use powder or paste oftener than once a day, but the mouth and teeth should be rinsed as frequently as is convenient.

In addition to this care, that is in general practice, it is not only beneficial but almost imperative to use a good antiseptic. The following will be found a very excellent one:

Cetace Pres'p.
Formalin.
Menthol.
Iris Florentina.
Eucalyptol.

These in combination with glycerine and agreeable aromatics.

If the mouth is washed daily with some good antiseptic and the teeth are brushed with a preparation made from the foregoing, the whiteness and firmness will be preserved for a remarkably long time.

Opinion Of An Expert.

"How do you like my new green and white hat?" asked the little blonde, "and don't you think it is immensely becoming?"

"I like it awfully well," replied the tall brunette, "and it is extremely becoming. But do you really think you should wear green, and isn't the white rather trying? I think I should like it better if the roses were on the back instead of the front, and it might be improved by raising the brim a little on the left side. If I were you I should make the milliner give me a better grade of ribbon for the bows—that is, if you paid a fair price for it and got it of a milliner who knows good materials when she sees them."

"Do you think the shape is quite suitable for you?" And, maybe, that is not an imperfect place in the crown, but it looks like it. What a pity that you can't see the way it sits on your back hair. Some milliners have no conscience about telling you that a hat sits properly on your head when it doesn't at all.

"What do you think about the straw? Wouldn't it have been better, if not quite as cheap, to get a nice fancy braid instead of a Neapolitan, which will become limp at the least bit of dampness?"

"And, by the way, they have been wearing ornaments like that pearl one for over a year, to my certain knowledge. I saw them on the bargain tables in the beginning of last winter. I could have bought you one for a song then if I had thought you would wear it. But perhaps you got it that way yourself. No? What a pity that you were cheated."

"Yes, I like the hat immensely—if only it wasn't white and you had not selected green for the trimmings; also if you had had the roses in the proper place and if the shape were a bit different. Be sure to look at the back of it when you get home and see if you really like the way it rests on your back hair. Goodbye, dear, goodbye."

"Goodness, what would she have said if she hadn't really liked it and had failed to think it becoming?" said the little blonde, as she furtively tried to see the back of her head in the nearest mirror.

"I suppose you've been through a good many trials in your life?"

"Yes, but it wasn't—much the trials that I minded as the verdicts."

Possibilities Of The Peach.

Peaches are in their prime this month, and surely this is one of the fruits that find favor in many a household. It is a fruit that makes a good beginning of breakfast or is a satisfactory ending to the evening meal.

Here are some tempting dishes to show the possibilities of the peach:

Peach Bavarian Cream.—Ten fresh peaches, half a pint of cold water, one pint of cream, half a box of gelatine. Cover the gelatine with cold water and let it soak for one hour. If canned peaches, one pint are used; they may be pressed through a colander, but if the fresh fruit is used it should be first stewed and sweetened. Place the gelatine over boiling water until dissolved. While the cream is being whipped, add the fruit, mix and turn into a large bowl; place this in a pan of cracked ice and heat until it begins to thicken. Then add the whipped cream, stir carefully until well mixed; turn into a wet mould and set it in a cold place to stiffen; turn out and garnish with whipped cream.

Peach Fritters.—Either the fresh or canned peaches may be used. They should be cooked in deep fat, which should be hot enough to brown a small piece of bread in 50 seconds.

Fresh or canned peaches, rum or brandy, sugar, grated lemon peel.

Peel, stone and halve the peaches. Sprinkle well with sugar, rum and grated lemon peel. Let them stand for ten minutes. To make the batter, take one heaping cupful of flour, two eggs, one tablespoonful of olive oil, one or two tablespoonfuls of rum or brandy and a little cold water. The rum or brandy may be omitted if preferred, substituting lemon juice, wine or fruit juice.

Mix the yolks with the flour, then add the oil and liquor, thin with water to the consistency of thick cream. Add the white of the eggs, beaten to a very stiff froth. Dip the fruit in this and fry in the hot fat. The batter should be thick enough to coat the fruit thoroughly. Cook the peaches piece by piece. When golden brown place on brown paper and keep them warm in the oven, and let them dry. Sift powdered sugar over them and serve hot.

Peach Mousse.—Use very ripe fruit. Peel and slice enough to make a quart. Rub them through a strainer, add a pint of sugar and mix well. Add also two quarts of whipped cream. It is quite an improvement to add two tablespoonfuls of wine or maraschino. Wet a three-quart mould in cold water and heap the mousse in lightly. Pack in salt and ice and let it remain for four hours.

Simple Peach Pudding.—Line a deep glass dish with thick slices of sponge cake soaked in sherry. Then fill the dish with fresh peaches, peeled and sliced and well sprinkled with sugar. Pile whipped cream on the top. Stand on the ice to become very cold before serving.

Peach Ice-cream.—Use one generous pint of ripe peaches, peeled, mashed and strained; quarter of a teaspoonful of almond extract; one quart of cream; a cup and a half of sugar.

Mix the strained peaches and sugar together; add the cream, a quarter of it at a time, mixing thoroughly. Last add the almond extract and freeze.

Peach Cream Pudding.—One quart of pared and sliced peaches, three eggs, one pint of milk, three-quarters of a cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, salt spoonful of salt, generous half teaspoonful extract of vanilla.

Beat the milk in a double boiler. Beat the eggs, sugar, flour and salt well together. Pour a little of the hot milk on this mixture. When well blended, return all to the double boiler. Let it cool about ten minutes, stirring frequently. Remove it from the fire, strain into a bowl, add the vanilla and set away to cool.

Place the peaches in a deep dish, and when the cream mixture becomes cool mix together and set it in the refrigerator for three hours or more to chill it thoroughly.

Peach and Rice Pudding.—One dozen large peaches, scant half cupful of rice, two and a half cupfuls of milk, one cup of sugar, cup and a half of cold water, scant half a teaspoonful of salt.

Wash the rice and soak it for two and a half hours in the cold water; drain off the water and put the milk and rice in the double boiler and cook for two hours; then add the salt and cook for 30 minutes. Put the peaches in a wire basket and plunge them into boiling water for two minutes. Rub off the skins and cut the peaches in halves.

Break six of the peach stones; put them in the saucepan with the sugar and water and simmer them for half an hour. Remove the stones and put the peaches in the syrup. Cook slowly for 15 minutes.

When the fruit is cooked spread half of the rice on a flat dish, having the layer about half an inch thick. Save 15 of the best halves of the peaches, and spread 4 of the remaining pieces on the rice; put another layer of rice on top of the fruit, shaping it into a tapering mould. On the top layer put 4 more pieces of peach and cover with the remaining rice, which should be heaped to a point. Arrange the pieces held in reserve around the base of the mould. To the syrup add the juice of an orange, and either one tablespoonful of maraschino or a couple of tablespoonfuls of wine. Pour this syrup very carefully over the rice and peaches and also serve cream with the pudding. Serve cold.

Branded Peaches.—Select white peaches that are not too ripe. Smoother white teeth or Morris whites are considered the best for this purpose. Peel carefully. Melt in an agate or porcelain-lined kettle 2 pounds of granulated sugar in 3 quarts of water. Weigh the fruit, then put in the peaches, a few at a time, to scald. When they are boiled so they can be pierced with a broom straw lay them on a platter. When all are scalded make the following syrup:

Take one-half the weight of peaches in sugar. Allow one gill of the first syrup to every pound of fresh sugar. Put it into the kettle and bring it slowly to a boil. Then put it at one side to settle. Skim at this stage—not sooner. Bring it to a boil again. Put the fruit into this syrup, a little at a time. Scald for about five minutes and remove the jars.

When all the peaches are cooked hold down the syrup 15 or 20 minutes, or until very thick, using care not to let it get scorched. Skim again. Drain the syrup from the jars. Fill the jars one-third with the rich syrup. Fill to the top with best brandy. Cover and set away.

Peach Marmalade.—Place the peaches in a wire basket and plunge them into boiling water for two minutes. Rub off the skin, cut the peaches in half and take out the stones. Measure the fruit and place it in the preserving kettle. For six quarts of peaches use one quart of water. Cover and cook for an hour; then add three quarts of granulated sugar and cook for an hour longer, stirring often. The marmalade should be smooth, thick and rather glossy at the end of that time. Put in small jars or glasses. When cold cover with pieces of paper wet in brandy and then sealed, or with metal covers.

Thoughts Between Waves.

Some persons seem to think their unkindness is written upon a slate, and that the moist sponge of forgiveness should ever be at hand to wipe it out.

The man who cannot be in the company of a woman for 15 moments without quoting poetry, should never have a serious place in her life.

When you adopt an original trend of thought remember that you cannot walk against the crowd without having your elbows roughly jostled at times.

The only way to manage an arrogant man is to pitch your duel for life in a key with which he is quite unfamiliar.

Money, after all, is but the corkscrew for pleasure.

Men should never flirt with the woman who writes her love affairs in indelible ink. It is the man with an inexhaustible supply of profanity who objects to women using slang.

For ages man has held the old maid up to ridicule because she would not submit to his tyranny.

If some man would spend half an hour thinking up a fresh set of compliments his increased popularity would bring ample reward.

The real compliment in a man's flattery is in the wish to please which prompts the nonsense.

Little sorrows in the hearts of some people are like the squeak balloon, whose repeated inflations make all bystanders wretched. There are women who seem to consider a worshipper at their shrine as important an adjunct to their public appearance as their booties or boots.

If you want a man to think you are very clever show unbounded appreciation of his achievements.

Many a man has asked some woman to let him take care of her in order to get her to take care of him.

Men do not understand that it is not because a woman cannot take aim that she does not hit things, but because she is too soft-hearted.

Love should be called the ether of life; those under its influence seem so insensible to outside joy or pain.

Some persons who have been "crossed in love" always give the impression of having just hit their "funny bone."

The much-vaunted mantle of charity is often rendered quite useless by rents from the sword of strict justice.

Dissatisfaction with one's condition in life is the match that has started many a spark of genius which has later illumined the world.

So few women realize the vital difference between being part of a man's happiness and merely a part of his pleasure.

Short Sermon to the Lonely

You are lonely, my dear friend. I would fain wander with you in the lonely path and show you some of the hidden beauty that lingers where the feet of other pilgrims have so bravely trod.

You are looking over yonder, where the skies seem brighter and where the voices of mother, father, sister, brother, wife and child mingle in sweet and distant music. You are alone, or, at least, you feel that you are.

Let us see: we will rest for a moment on this green bank of the wayside and pluck the violets at our feet. I have a book with me as a companion. In it are reminders of my mother's garden.

Here is a grape leaf and tendril, which bring a picture of purple clusters, climbing, climbing, climbing. Now we have a half blown rose, which holds its apple blossom color, and our memories repeat the wonderful words of the poet:

"Every Rose is an Autograph of Almighty God."

And thus, by the wayside, we behold His writing.

A faint breath stirs the grasses at our feet, and we seem to hear the rustle of a white garment by our side.

Let us read a few words from the book: "He shall give His angels charge concerning thee."

O words of comfort, O words of cheer—From my eyelids there falls the answering tear.

My heart is strengthened; I will trust Him today.

By my side walks the Angel, to show me the way.

ALICE S. R. MITCHELL.

Autobiography Of A Fad.

I was born in Paris, springing, Minerva-like, full-fledged from the brain of my creator—a French actress. I came across the Atlantic in a trunk, was dragged out to daylight by a profane customs officer, entered in a book, paid exorbitant rates for and sprung upon an unsuspecting public on Broadway.

I traveled extensively, having been seen on a Montana ranch, a Mexican hacienda and a New England village at the same time. Then I met a monster named Feminine Fancy, which destroyed me and wiped my race from the face of the earth. It was the same power which had given me birth, so I had "no kick coming."

I, who had ruled palaces and hovels alike, died because—I died. There has never been any other reason for my demise known to bacteriologists—the fad microbe is yet beyond human ken. I was buried with my countless forefathers in the Potter's Field of oblivion. But we lie, content, knowing that we shall each in turn be exhumed from the depths at some future day—for there is transmigration for fads more surely than for human souls.

And so above us it is well written, "Feminine Fads of the Ages. They rest from their Labors. Requestant in Pace."
